Jordan, Arabia Plan To Merge Their Armies

Ancient Middle East Feud Ends; Economic Agreement Is Set Up

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Burying the decades-old feud between their dynasties, Kings Hussein of Jordan and Saud of Saudi Arabia have agreed to merge their nations' military forces, coordinate their economies and present a united front in Arab and world affairs.

Hussein and Saud announced their plans for comprehensive unity of the Western-allied Middle East nations in a joint statement issued in Amman and Mecca on Wednesday night.

They called on all other Arab states to join in their agreements, but it was obvious they did not expect President Nasser's United Arab Republic, for one, to accept the invitation. They accused Nasser of shattering Arab unity.

The statement was released a few hours after Hussein returned to Amman from a three-day meeting with Saud at Taif, Saudi Arabia. The two monarchs agreed on "complete military unity" and "the establishment of a common command for the two armed forces immediately."

Impoverished, agricultural Jordan and oil-rich Saudi Arabia will coordinate economic policy and eliminate all restrictions on the movement of persons, goods and capital between the two countries, the monarchs said. They will settle their border problems immediately, they added.

Cooperation and coordination also were agreed upon in all cultural and administrative affairs and in the field of national guidance and information.

In agreeing to coordinate "Arab and foreign policy," the monarchs reaffirmed common enmity of Israel. They pledged to "act within a unified plan to restore to all cost sacred Arab rights in Palestine."

Despite their long feud, the Hashemite and Saudi kingdoms have been drawn closer together in recent years because of common dislike for Nasser, his Arab socialism and his power grabs. Cairo radio has urged repeatedly the overthrow of both Hussein and Saud.

The Hashemite-Saudi feud dates from the late 19th century when both fought for supremacy over the Arab Peninsula. In the early 1920s, Saud's father, the late King Ibn Saud, succeeded in driving Hussein's grandfather, the late King Abdullah, out of what has become a great desert oil empire of the Saudis. The British later set Abdullah up as monarch over independent Jordan and installed his brother, Faisal I, as king of neighboring Iraq.

Dayton Policemen Face Arraignment

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Two Dayton policemen face arraignment on charges stemming from the burglary of the Eagles' Lodge in nearby New Boston.

Joseph Arthur Kindy, 38, and Henry C. Taubee Jr., 29, are charged with shooting to kill and breaking and entering.

Further legal action awaits their release from Chillicothe Hospital. Both men suffered severe injuries when their speeding automobile crashed into a roadblock set up by Chillicothe police Tuesday morning to halt the car.

The chase followed discovery of the $150 burglary. Roger Henson of Silesville, who reported the burglary, said one of the men fired shots at him before they fled to the car.

U.S. Farmers Balloting on Wheat Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's wheat farmers ballot today on return to a government control program under which current surpluses were piled up.

The program was submitted by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman under requirement of law. He had sought unsuccessfully to get Congress to authorize a tighter program in time for submission at today's referendum.

The program establishes grower acreage planting allotments totaling 55 million acres and places marketing quotas on farms designed to limit sales to amounts grown on the allotments. Excess sales would be subject to a penalty of around $1.09 a bushel. Wheat would be supported at $1.82.

Approval by at least two-thirds of the growers voting is required. Wheat controls have never been defeated.

Should the program be defeated, farmers would be free to grow and market as much wheat as they desired. Price supports would be reduced to about $1.21 a bushel and would be limited to those growers who planted within allotments.

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—Jail doors have swung open for 20 persons, including 17 clergymen, arrested for a racial protest demonstration. Most, if not all, of the 55 still behind bars planned to gain release today by posting $200 bonds.

More than 50 clergymen, mostly from Northern and Midwestern cities, were among 54 white persons and 21 negroes jailed Tuesday for refusing to leave the sidewalk in front of city hall where they sought to hold a prayer vigil.

Akron Probers Free Boy in Death Case

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A 15-year-old boy who said he found 12-year-old Marion Brubaker's nude body in a woods area near her home has been released by Summit County sheriff's deputies after being held 48 hours.

The girl, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Clair D. Brubaker, was strangled on her way home from a library Monday afternoon. She was to be buried today after services in the Hillwood Chapel Community Church, where her father is pastor.

A 19-year-old youth was questioned in the case and held as a parole violator. But authorities doubted he is involved in the slaying.

Another man who admitted being in the area about the time the girl was killed was picked up Wednesday and questioned. He still was in custody today.

JFK Says Test Ban Treaty Need Growing More Acute

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says the possibility of 10 or 15 nuclear powers by the end of the decade underscores the need for an enforceable treaty banning all atomic tests.

The President told his news conference Wednesday he and all the world would welcome a cessation of testing by next New Year's Day. But, he made clear, Soviet objection to international inspection dims the hopes of an agreement.

"I must point out again that in order to end testing, we must have workable international agreements," Kennedy said. "Gentlemen's agreements and moratoria do not provide the types of guarantees that are necessary."

Kennedy warned that when one nuclear weapons goes off, "it may mean they all go off."

"Those who oppose an agreement," he said solemnly, "should consider what our security will look like at the end of the decade if we do not have the agreement."

One of the president's opening statements was on nuclear testing and he was returned to the subject again and again in a meeting with newsmen that produced these other items:

—Associate Justice Felix Frankfurter, 79 and ill, is retiring after 23 years on the Supreme Court and Kennedy has selected Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg to fill the vacancy.

—The President considers the U.S. foreign aid program "the most valuable weapon immediately at our disposal against the Communist advance," and he finds "it very ironical that

Algeria Braced Against Rebels

ALGIERS (AP)—Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella's Political Bureau called on the regular army and loyal guerrilla troops today to move against rebellious guerrillas holding Algiers.

Rebellious guerrilla forces holding Algiers and the Kabylie Mountains called for all-out resistance against troops reported moving toward the capital.

The Political Bureau said it had decided to call on the loyal forces to dispatch to Algiers the detachments necessary to re-establish order and ensure the security of all in Algeria.

The regular army's chief of staff, Col. Houari Boumedienne, declared Wednesday in Setif, eastern Algeria, that he was prepared to move on the capital whenever the Political Bureau instructed him to do so.

Everything was going smoothly for the novice on the end of the line when suddenly he got a mouthful of water. He did what you would do—spit it out—and with it went his upper plate.

those who make the strongest speeches against Communist movements are the ones who want to cut this program the hardest."

—The United States has no evidence that Russian troops have moved into Cuba and Kennedy thinks an invasion of the Communist-aligned Caribbean country would be a mistake that could lead "to very serious consequences for many people."

—Kennedy said he is not familiar with any Russian proposal for a meeting in Berlin of the four occupying powers to discuss the divided city's future, but he said there will be a foreign ministers meeting before the U.N. General Assembly convenes next month.

In reply to questions on other topics, Kennedy said:

Government agencies are investigating possible dangerous side-effects from the widespread use of DDT and other pesticides, farmers withholding meats and grains from the market are trying to get higher prices, not deprive consumers of their products.

Pornographic literature is "a matter of concern for parents," but about all officials can do is enforce the laws as interpreted by the courts; the United States strongly supports Cambodia's independence and neutrality; "a very critical situation" would arise if Katanga is not integrated in the Congo.

Wirtz has had long experience in the labor-management field. In 1946, he was chairman of the Wage Stabilization Board.

He also has taught law at Northwestern University and at the University of Iowa.

Kennedy said he made the announcement "with great pleasure."

He described Wirtz as an able lawyer with long experience in labor-management relations.

Wirtz has served as an arbitrator in many labor-management disputes.

Wirtz is a one-time law partner of Adlai E. Stevenson, now U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

The labor post became vacant Wednesday when Kennedy selected Goldberg to succeed the retiring Felix Frankfurter on the U.S. Supreme Court.

Frankfurter, 79, suffered a stroke April 5. His speech was impaired. He has been away from the court ever since.

He wrote President Kennedy Tuesday of his decision, and started off by citing "28 U.S.C. Sec. 371 B, 68 Stat. 12"—the statute permitting his retirement.

"To retain my seat on the basis of a diminished work schedule," he said, "would not comport with my own philosophy or with the demands of the business of the court. I am thus left with no choice but to regard my period of active service on the court as having run its course."

In a warm letter of reply, Kennedy voiced for himself and all Americans "our respectful gratitude for the character, courage, learning and judicial dedication with which you have served your country over the last 23 years."

It was characteristic, he said, that Frankfurter had taken the judgment of his doctors and "set it sternly against your own demanding standard of judicial effectiveness."

Goldberg happened to be at the White House about that time. The President was sending him to Chicago to try to head off a strike of telegraphers against the Chicago and North Western Railway, and they had been talking about the dispute.

Kennedy, an aide said, told the secretary of Frankfurter's retirement, discussed the question of a successor, offered Goldberg the position and received an immediate acceptance.

Akron Probers Free Boy in Death Case

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A 15-year-old boy who said he found 12-year-old Marion Brubaker's nude body in a woods area near her home has been released by Summit County sheriff's deputies after being held 48 hours.

The girl, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Clair D. Brubaker, was strangled on her way home from a library Monday afternoon. She was to be buried today after services in the Hillwood Chapel Community Church, where her father is pastor.

A 19-year-old youth was questioned in the case and held as a parole violator. But authorities doubted he is involved in the slaying.

Another man who admitted being in the area about the time the girl was killed was picked up Wednesday and questioned. He still was in custody today.

Kennedy Promotes Wirtz To Be Labor Secretary

News Briefs

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Astronaut John Glenn advised an assembly of Explorer Scouts here to keep a spiritual center in their lives to "give you direction and purpose."

Do that, he said in a tape-recorded message, "and there will be no need to look further for the leaders of tomorrow."

The message was played for some 3,200 scouts at the closing of the First National Explorer Conference at the University of Michigan Wednesday.

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Ray Flowers, 51, of Chanderlerville in Muskingum County apparently shot and killed himself Wednesday, a few hours before he was to appear in Newark Municipal Court on a charge of driving while intoxicated, the Highway Patrol reported.

Flowers was cited following a three-car accident on Ohio 16, six miles east of Newark, Saturday night. Five persons were injured in the collision, none seriously.

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two 23-year-old Cleveland men were in Cuyahoga County Jail in lieu of $1,500 bond today awaiting hearings on draft evasion charges.

Kenneth M. Campbell and Will Duncan were arrested by FBI agents Wednesday in a crackdown on men who ignore draft board notices. They demanded hearings which U.S. Commissioner Herbert A. Horn set for next Wednesday.

Campbell, scheduled to be inducted last Monday, told agents he would not show up for induction because "I just don't want to go, that's all."

MOSCOW (AP)—Acting Secretary-General U. Thant said today Soviet Premier Khrushchev told him he has no plans to attend the U.N. General Assembly opening next month. But Thant said that Khrushchev did not rule out a visit later in the assembly session.

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Dallas E. March, a Bowling Green osteopath, pleaded innocent in Wood County Court Wednesday to a charge of performing an abortion.

The affidavit was signed by Robert F. Lentz of Toledo, who alleged that the operation was performed on his wife June.

Judge E. E. Bailey set bond for March at $1,000 pending action by the September Grand Jury.

CHICAGO (AP)—Nearly 22,000 persons were killed in the nation's traffic accidents in the first seven months of this year, including a record toll in July, the National Safety Council reports.

The council said the traffic death toll from Jan. 1 to Aug. 1 was 21,960, including 3,840 persons killed in July.

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Police said a high school senior apparently hanged himself because he failed to make the football team. Wayne Eric Waldo, 18, was found Wednesday hanging by a rope tied to a back porch rail.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Herbert Herman's cleanliness helped a thief make a clean getaway.

Herman gave chase Wednesday when he saw a youth take a $200 ring and a wallet containing $94 from his bedroom.

When the thief ran out the back door, Herman stopped short, remembering he had been taking a shower.

He said he had gained extra income by barter, Gasper related.

JFK Says Test Ban Treaty Need Growing More Acute

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy says the possibility of 10 or 15 nuclear powers by the end of the decade underscores the need for an enforceable treaty banning all atomic tests.

The President told his news conference Wednesday he and all the world would welcome a cessation of testing by next New Year's Day. But, he made clear, Soviet objection to international inspection dims the hopes of an agreement.

"I must point out again that in order to end testing, we must have workable international agreements," Kennedy said. "Gentlemen's agreements and moratoria do not provide the types of guarantees that are necessary."

Kennedy warned that when one nuclear weapons goes off, "it may mean they all go off."

"Those who oppose an agreement," he said solemnly, "should consider what our security will look like at the end of the decade if we do not have the agreement."

One of the president's opening statements was on nuclear testing and he was returned to the subject again and again in a meeting with newsmen that produced these other items:

—Associate Justice Felix Frankfurter, 79 and ill, is retiring after 23 years on the Supreme Court and Kennedy has selected Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg to fill the vacancy.

—The President considers the U.S. foreign aid program "the most valuable weapon immediately that we have on the front lines against the Communist advance," and he finds "it very ironical that those who make the strongest speeches against Communist movements are the ones who want to cut this program the hardest."

—The United States has no evidence that Russian troops have moved into Cuba and Kennedy thinks an invasion of the Communist-aligned Caribbean country would be a mistake that could lead "to very serious consequences for many people."

—Kennedy said he is not familiar with any Russian proposal for a meeting in Berlin of the four occupying powers to discuss the divided city's future, but he said there will be a foreign ministers meeting before the U.N. General Assembly convenes next month.

In reply to questions on other topics, Kennedy said:

Government agencies are investigating possible dangerous side-effects from the widespread use of DDT and other pesticides, farmers withholding meats and grains from the market are trying to get higher prices, not deprive consumers of their products.

Pornographic literature "is a matter of concern for parents," but about all officials can do is enforce the laws as interpreted by the courts; the United States strongly supports Cambodia's independence and neutrality; "a very critical situation" would arise if Katanga is not integrated in the Congo.

Lutheran Contract Awarded; Worship Schedule Changed

A contract for construction of the new Trinity Lutheran Church here has been awarded to the Don King Co. of Jackson, O.

The Jackson firm submitted a low bid of $347,000. The new church will be built at the present location on E. Mound St.

Worship in the present Trinity Lutheran building will be conducted for the last time this Sunday. During the period of building, church service will be held at 8 p. m. in the Presbyterian Church, 9:15 a. m. Sunday School in the Lutheran Parish House and a 10:30 a. m. Worship Service also in the Parish House.

Lutheran Pastor Carl Zehner today commended the cooperation of the Presbyterian Church during the construction period. He termed it an example of the fine Christian spirit enjoyed by Circleville Churches.

BOYD MARTIN of Columbus is the architect for the new church. The building will be of modified gothic design.

The main floor will seat 480. There will be additional seating

California Fires Battled

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Exhausted firefighters battled stubborn flareups today on brushfires raging throughout California, amid warnings the state is a tinderbox.

The U. S. Forest Service cautioned that conditions may get worse over the Labor Day weekend. Six fires already have charred 42,000 acres since Sunday.

In Southern California, gusty winds threatened to carry sparks outside the lines of twin blazes which have burned more than 17,000 acres in rugged mountains on the northern outskirts of Los Angeles.

Los Angeles County Fire Chief Keith Klingner estimates damage to watershed and structures in clearing parts of Gene Autry's movie ranch and a county sanitarium—at more than $2 million.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—"Mayor has 5th—Gets Little High." That headline in the Miami News topped a story reporting that Mayor and Mrs. Robert King High were proud parents of a fifth child, Bonnie Lou High.

Senate Shuns Tax Proposal

Withholding Plan Gets Solons' Cold Shoulder

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has turned down President Kennedy's proposal for a withholding system to wipe out tax evasion on dividend and interest income.

The defeat had been conceded in advance by administration leaders struggling to put the watered-down tax revision bill through the Senate.

But the size of the vote Wednesday against withholding—66-20—was a surprise even to the little group of Democrats who tried to keep it in the bill. Only 19 Democrats and one Republican, John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, supported the President; 34 Democrats and 32 Republicans opposed the provision.

There's a chance the proposal will be salvaged in conference because the House included it in passing the measure in March. But the strongest advocates of the plan said their hope is slim.

The Treasury estimated the dividend and interest withholding plan would bring in about $900 million a year in taxes now evaded by failure to report about $5 billion of such income.

This was to be the biggest item in paying for the major feature of the bill—an investment credit to spur U.S. business to buy new machinery and equipment.

Without withholding, the bill is estimated to mean a substantial annual deficit to the Treasury.

Philippine War Damage Bill OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signed the $73-million Philippine war damage bill today and expressed gratification that most of the money will be reinvested in the Philippine economy.

The White House signing ceremony was witnessed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk; a large group of congressional leaders; the Philippine charge d'affaires, Jose Imperial, and visiting Philippine Sen. Rogelio de la Rosa.

The new allotment, benefiting some 86,000 claimants, will permit completion of payments to those awarded compensation for losses in World War II. A 1946 appropriation of $400 million proved insufficient.

5,000 Babies Deformed

BONN, Germany (AP)—An estimated 5,000 German children have been deformed by thalidomide taken by the mothers during pregnancy, a West German health official said Wednesday.

Goldberg Named As Justice of Supreme Court

Frankfurter Resigns After 23 Colorful Years on High Bench

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today named Undersecretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz to succeed Supreme Court Justice-designate Arthur J. Goldberg as secretary of labor.

Kennedy personally announced his selection at a news conference.

The President said Wirtz, 50, has served with distinction as undersecretary since the beginning of his administration.

He added that he is confident Wirtz will carry on what he called the very fine tradition set by Goldberg in the field of labor-management relations.

Wirtz has had long experience in the labor-management field. In 1946, he was chairman of the Wage Stabilization Board.

He also has taught law at Northwestern University and at the University of Iowa.

Kennedy said he made the announcement "with great pleasure."

He described Wirtz as an able lawyer with long experience in labor-management relations.

Wirtz has served as an arbitrator in many labor-management disputes.

Goldberg has relied heavily upon him for mediation and negotiations in many disputes.

Wirtz is a one-time law partner of Adlai E. Stevenson, now U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

The labor post became vacant Wednesday when Kennedy selected Goldberg to succeed the retiring Felix Frankfurter on the U.S. Supreme Court.

Frankfurter, 79, suffered a stroke April 5. His speech was impaired. He has been away from the court ever since.

He wrote President Kennedy Tuesday of his decision, and started off by citing "28 U.S.C. Sec. 371 B, 68 Stat. 12"—the statute permitting his retirement.

"To retain my seat on the basis of a diminished work schedule," he said, "would not comport with my own philosophy or with the demands of the business of the court. I am thus left with no choice but to regard my period of active service on the court as having run its course."

In a warm letter of reply, Kennedy voiced for himself and all Americans "our respectful gratitude for the character, courage, learning and judicial dedication with which you have served your country over the last 23 years." It was characteristic, he said, that Frankfurter had taken the judgment of his doctors and "set it sternly against your own demanding standard of judicial effectiveness."

Goldberg happened to be at the White House about that time. The President was sending him to Chicago to try to head off a strike of telegraphers against the Chicago and North Western Railway, and they had been talking about the dispute.

Kennedy, an aide said, told the secretary of Frankfurter's retirement, discussed the question of a successor, offered Goldberg the position and received an immediate acceptance.

Hoover Jokes, Calls Off Evening's Canasta Game

NEW YORK (AP)—In discomfort after a major operation—sweating it out while hospital pathologists work in the laboratory to determine whether his intestinal tumor was cancerous—Herbert Hoover, 88, still can make a joke.

"There will be no canasta tonight," he called out as his two sons—Herbert Jr. and Allan—left his hospital room after a 15-minute visit Wednesday.

The jest brought a laugh all around. Hoover is a dedicated canasta player, and often played with Allan and his wife, Margaret.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A swarm of perhaps 10,000 bees spotted a tiny patch of green high among the skyscrapers of Kansas City Wednesday. They landed on it. It was the small patio opening onto the office of James M. Kemper Sr., chairman of the board of the Commerce Trust Co. Kemper carefully snipped the branch on which the swarm was buzzing, dropped branch, bees and all into a burlap bag and ordered them taken to his home. He already has seven hives.

TORONTO (AP) — Live telecasts of surgery on small animals are laying them in the aisles at the annual Canadian National Exhibition here.

Spectators are fainting at the rate of three an operation. More than 60 visitors have been carried or helped out, and a few have required hospital treatment.

The televised operations, per

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — An earthquake shook parts of at least two states this morning. The tremor started at 6:36 a.m. and lasted about 30 seconds.

One resident in Ogden, Utah, about 30 miles north of here, reported that his cement porch was cracked. There were no other immediate reports of damage.

The earthquake was felt at Vernal, Utah, about 170 miles east of here, and at Preston, Idaho, just north of the Utah border.

One Salt Lake City resident said she was in her bathtub at the time the quake hit. "It felt like the bathtub was twisting out from under me," said Mrs. Veda Swain.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Liquor license fees, collected by the state and returned to local governments, totaled $9.1 million dollars last year, State Auditor James A. Rhodes reported today.

In Washington, a spokesman for the association denied the charge. The suit was filed by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

This assistance will be provided by state conservationists of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service and their staffs. Later, if the developed artificial, antiscouring plans are approved, financial help for carrying them out will be sought from Congress.

BOURNE, England (AP) — The City Council apologized today for seven beautiful girls who stripped down to bathing suits to form an honor guard at a church wedding.

The girls are swimmers in an aquashow with the bride, Eileen Hart, 22.

At Eileen's wedding in a local Anglican church, the seven sat demurely and fully clad in their peew through the half-hour service.

After the service, the dresses came off in the churchyard outside, revealing swimsuits embellished by filmy trains of white lace.

The council apologized because it sponsors the show.

Brother as President Is Asset, RFK Believes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rules for success in politics are many and colorful, and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has added another — "Don't knock having a brother as president."

The subject came up Tuesday in a chat between Kennedy and 50 college students in his office. One student wondered whether having a brother in the White House was a disadvantage in his job.

Replied the attorney general: "No—a great advantage. I don't knock it."

Doctor Shot In Scuffle With Patient

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A woman patient shot her doctor today with a revolver he carried for protection on late night calls, sheriff's deputies reported.

Dr. Kenneth D. Smith is reported in fair condition in Mt. Carmel Hospital. A staff physician said he had an abdominal wound.

Sheriff's Capt. Gerald Segal gave this account:

Dr. Smith was called to the home of Mrs. Zola Kidwell, a widow. He had been treating her for ulcers.

Upon arrival, the doctor said the woman told him she had taken several sleeping capsules. Telling her he would not let her keep the remaining pills, the doctor took the bottle from a table and went outside toward his car in the driveway.

The woman followed and a scuffle developed over the pill bottle. Dr. Smith's medical bag came open and the revolver fell out. The woman seized it and, in the struggle, the physician was shot.

Dr. Smith has indicated he does not wish to file charges against Mrs. Kidwell, Capt. Segal said. Mrs. Kidwell was examined at Mt. Carmel Hospital and released.

Louisiana Town Starts Cleanup after Storm

CAMERON, La. (AP) — Undaunted by its latest battle with the elements, this low-lying coastal town starts today to clean up after a death-dealing windstorm and high waters.

It was Cameron's third severe onslaught by storms and swirling waters in less than five years.

The official casualty list of Tuesday night's storm shows two dead and 30 injured. Eighteen were hospitalized. The Red Cross reported 125 families affected by the storm. One home was demolished and 16 house trailers were destroyed or severely damaged.

Shower meteors are roughly uniform in size. None has been known to reach the ground, yet almost all are large enough to leave trails.

State Fair Sets Records In Attendance, Stock Prices

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With six full days of Ohio's 11-day state fair completed, attendance is running about 12,000 ahead of last year, fair officials reported today.

The fair has had good, but hot weather and paid attendance at least seems fairly certain to break last year's total. Thus far more than 196,700 persons have bought tickets for the big exposition.

Today was Senior Citizens Day at the fair with Gov. Michael V. DiSalle on the grounds to give an address on problems concerning the state's elderly citizens. Today also marks the last day of harness racing at the fair.

Biggest day in the way of special attractions is scheduled Friday when Ohio's own astronaut, Lt. John H. Glenn Jr., makes his appearance along with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Glenn Sr. of New Concord. He will speak at a grandstand program on the importance of education in today's space age.

Among the events at the fair Wednesday was selection of a two year old bull as grand champion and senior champion of the short-horn class. The animal was entered by the Mathers Brothers of Mason City, Ill.

The grand champion steer of the junior division owned by Gary Wagner of Greenville, a 4-H Club exhibitor, brought $1,300 at an auction. The animal sold for $1.25 a pound and was purchased by a Columbus restaurant.

The reserve grand champion shorthorn-Angus cross breed in the same class, owned by David Ames of Wilmington, sold for 56 cents a pound, and the reserve champion junior Hereford owned by Charles Beal of Bucyrus brought 36 cents a pound.

The state fair auctions set modern-day records, fair officials reported.

In separate sales, the grand champion barrow owned by Wendell Yohe of Laura, Miami County, sold for a record price of $3 a pound. The grand champion market lamb, owned by William

Haller & Son of Bucyrus, sold for $2.60 a pound.

The hog sale grossed more than $15,500 on 346 head of animals that averaged 210 pounds. The average sale price of $21.59 a hundredweight was $3 over the current market price.

Howard Parrish of Montpelier had the grand champion barrow of the junior division, a Duroc weighing 205 pounds, and it sold for 91 cents a pound. The champion 4-H barrow owned by James Hessel of Tiffin sold for $1.55 a pound. The grand champion lamb of the Junior Fair, owned by Jim Needs of Upper Sandusky, sold for 55 cents a pound.

Municipal Jury Finishes with 'Hung' Decision

A six-member Circleville Municipal Court jury recorded a "hung" decision yesterday after more than three hours of deliberation.

The jury trial, first in history of the city court, involved the National Mutual Insurance Co. as plaintiffs against the C. F. Replage Construction Co. as defendants.

The hearing, which began Monday, came to a close yesterday at about 3:30 p. m. After three hours of discussion jurors returned with a 4-2 verdict. Law requires at least a 5-1 decision.

The court action centered about a subrogation claim of $604.83 involving the construction of highways 75 and 52 at Ironton. As the result of explosions a claim was made by Ray Howard of Ironton that walls in his home were cracked and the foundation damaged. The claim was paid by Howard's insurance company.

HOWEVER, the National Mutual Insurance Co. in turn filed suit against Replage in an attempt to be reimbursed. According to one spokesman, the insurance company was not interested in the $604.83, but rather the "principle at stake."

Harry Margulis, Ashville attorney, was appointed by Judge Sterling Lamb as acting judge to hear the case. Procedure was held in the Common Pleas Courtroom at the courthouse.

Attorney for the plaintiff was Allen Berger. Attorneys for the defendant were George Young, Circleville; Homer Edwards, Ironton; and G. B. Johnson, Ashland, Ky.

Three Fined By Muny Court

Three persons faced a total of four charges yesterday in Circleville Municipal Court.

John C. Reid, 22, Route 2, was fined $15 and costs for speeding at 65 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone on an affidavit filed by the State Highway Patrol. He was also fined $30 and costs for operating a motor vehicle on a temporary permit without being accompanied by a licensed operator.

Also arrested by the State Patrol was William F. Wangler, 35, Fort Wayne, Ind., who was fined $10 and costs for speeding at 70 miles an hour in a 60 mile zone.

Ray F. Plymale, 63, Washington C. H., was fined $15 and costs for failure to yield the right-of-way. He was arrested by city police.

Stock Prices Are Irregular

NEW YORK (AP) — A decline by steel marred a feeble stock market advance today and prices were irregular early this afternoon in light dealings.

Reflecting the small change in the over-all market, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down a minimal .1 to 232.2 with industrials off .3, rails up .1 and utilities up .1.

Trading was the slowest of the week as the Labor Day weekend neared and some Wall Streeters began to depart for their last summer holiday.

Caution over possible developments after the Labor Day milestone has prevailed all this week and trading was lethargic, under the assumption that nothing much will happen to stock prices, barring surprise news, until after the weekend.

Steels were increasingly depressed by Wheeling Steel's dividend cut and expectations that others may follow. Motors perked up, however, all of them showing small gains. The rest of the list was scrambled.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A swarm of perhaps 10,000 bees spotted a tiny patch of green high among the skyscrapers of Kansas City Wednesday. They landed on it.

It was the small patio opening onto the office of James M. Kemper Sr., chairman of the board of the Commerce Trust Co. Kemper carefully snipped the branch on which the swarm was buzzing, dropped branch, bees and all into a burlap bag and ordered them taken to his home.

He already has seven hives.

TORONTO (AP) — Live telecasts of surgery on small animals are laying them in the aisles at the annual Canadian National Exhibition here.

Spectators are fainting at the rate of three an operation. More than 60 visitors have been carried or helped out, and a few have required hospital treatment.

The televised operations, per formed twice daily on small animals needing treatment, are the chief attraction of a $1 million "vetoscope" exhibit put in this year for the first time by Canada's 2,000 veterinarians.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — An earthquake shook parts of at least two states this morning. The tremor started at 6:36 a.m. and lasted about 30 seconds.

One resident in Ogden, Utah, reported 30 miles north of here, reported that his cement porch was cracked. There were no other immediate reports of damage.

The earthquake was felt at Vernal, Utah, about 170 miles east of here, and at Preston, Idaho, just north of the Utah border.

One Salt Lake City resident said she was in her bathtub at the time the quake hit. "It felt like the bathtub was twisting out from under me," said Mrs. Veda Swain.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Liquor license fees, collected by the state and returned to local governments, totaled $9.1 million dollars last year, State Auditor James A. Rhodes reported today.

Night club license fees last year exceeded $3.8 million and those for liquor-by-the-glass permits $1.9 million for the major source of revenues.

NEW YORK (AP) — Three railroad operating brotherhoods have filed a $1.5 million libel suit against the Association of American Railroads, charging the association in a newspaper advertisement - falsely accused the union of featherbedding and voting act.

BOURNE, England (AP) — The City Council apologized today for seven beautiful girls who stripped down to bathing suits to form an honor guard at a church wedding.

The girls are swimmers in an aquashow with the bride, Eileen Hart, 22.

At Eileen's wedding in a local Anglican church, the seven sat demurely and fully clad in their pew through the half-hour service.

After the service, the dresses came off in the churchyard outside, revealing swimsuits embellished by filmy trains of white lace.

The council apologized because it sponsors the show.

Brother as President Is Asset, RFK Believes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rules for success in politics are many and colorful, and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has added another — "Don't knock having a brother as president."

The subject came up Tuesday in a chat between Kennedy and 50 college students in his office. One student wondered whether having a brother in the White House was a disadvantage in his job.

Replied the attorney general: "No — a great advantage. I don't knock it."

Doctor Shot In Scuffle With Patient

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A woman patient shot her doctor today with a revolver he carried for protection on late night calls, sheriff's deputies reported.

Dr. Kenneth D. Smith is reported in fair condition in Mt. Carmel Hospital. A staff physician said he had an abdominal wound.

Sheriff's Capt. Gerald Segal gave this account:

Dr. Smith was called to the home of Mrs. Zola Kidwell, a widow. He had been treating her for ulcers.

Upon arrival, the doctor said the woman told him she had taken several sleeping capsules. Telling her he would not let her keep the remaining pills, the doctor took the bottle from a table and went outside toward his car in the driveway.

The woman followed and a scuffle developed over the pill bottle. Dr. Smith's medical bag came open and the revolver fell out. The woman seized it and, in the struggle, the physician was shot.

Dr. Smith has indicated he does not wish to file charges against Mrs. Kidwell, Capt. Segal said. Mrs. Kidwell was examined at Mt. Carmel Hospital and released.

Little said he figured he was out for about five minutes. When he revived his dogs were licking him in the face. He continued his hunt and got a coon later. Little reported he still has a headache and a big bump between his eyes.

State Fair Sets Records In Attendance, Stock Prices

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With six full days of Ohio's 11-day state fair completed, attendance is running about 12,000 ahead of last year, fair officials reported today.

The fair has had good, but hot weather and paid attendance at least seems fairly certain to break last year's total. Thus far more than 196,700 persons have bought tickets for the big exposition.

Today was Senior Citizens Day at the fair with Gov. Michael V. DiSalle on the grounds to give an address on problems concerning the state's elderly citizens. Today also marks the last day of harness racing at the fair.

Biggest day in the way of special attractions is scheduled Friday when Ohio's own astronaut, Lt. John H. Glenn Jr., makes his appearance along with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Glenn Sr. of New Concord. He will speak at a grandstand program on the importance of education in today's space age.

Among the events at the fair Wednesday was selection of a two year old bull as grand champion and senior champion of the short horn class. The animal was entered by the Mathers Brothers of Mason City, Ill.

The grand champion steer of the junior division owned by Gary Wagner of Greenville, a 4-H Club exhibitor, brought $1,300 at an auction. The animal sold for $1.25 a pound and was purchased by a Columbus restaurant.

The reserve grand champion shorthorn-Angus cross breed in the same class, owned by David Ames of Wilmington, sold for 56 cents a pound, and the reserve champion junior Hereford owned by Charles Beal of Bucyrus brought 36 cents a pound.

The state fair auctions set modern-day records, fair officials reported.

In separate sales, the grand champion barrow owned by Wendell Yohe of Laura, Miami County, sold for a record price of $3 a pound. The grand champion market lamb, owned by William

Haller & Son of Bucyrus, sold for $2.60 a pound.

The hog sale grossed more than $15,500 on 346 head of animals that averaged 210 pounds. The average sale price of $21.59 a hundredweight was $3 over the current market price.

Howard Parrish of Montpelier had the grand champion barrow of the junior division, a Duroc weighing 265 pounds, and it sold for 91 cents a pound. The champion 4-H barrow owned by James Hessick of Tiffin sold for $1.53 a pound. The grand champion lamb of the Junior Fair, owned by Jim Needs of Upper Sandusky, sold for 55 cents a pound.

Municipal Jury Finishes with 'Hung' Decision

A six-member Circleville Municipal Court jury recorded a "hung" decision yesterday after more than three hours of deliberation.

The jury trial, first in history of the city court, involved the National Mutual Insurance Co. as plaintiffs against the C. F. Replogle Construction Co. as defendants.

The hearing, which began Monday, came to a close yesterday at about 3:30 p. m. After three hours of discussion jurors returned with a 4-2 verdict. Law requires at least a 5-1 decision.

The court action centered about a subrogation claim of $604.83 involving the construction of highways 75 and 52 at Ironton. As the result of explosions a claim was made by Ray Howard of Ironton that walls in his home were cracked and the foundation damaged. The claim was paid by Howard's insurance company.

HOWEVER, the National Mutual Insurance Co. in turn filed suit against Replogle in an attempt to be reimbursed. According to one spokesman, the insurance company was not interested in the $604.83, but rather the "principle at stake."

Harry Margulis, Ashville attorney, was appointed by Judge Sterling Lamb as acting judge to hear the case. Procedure was held in the Common Pleas Courtroom at the courthouse.

Attorney for the plaintiff was Allen Berger. Attorneys for the defendant were George Young, Circleville; Homer Edwards, Ironton; and G. B. Johnson, Ashland, Ky.

Three Fined By Muny Court

Three persons faced a total of four charges yesterday in Circleville Municipal Court.

John C. Reid, 22, Route 2, was fined $15 and costs for speeding at 65 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone on an affidavit filed by the State Highway Patrol. He was also fined $30 and costs for operating a motor vehicle on a temporary permit without being accompanied by a licensed operator.

Also arrested by the State Patrol was William F. Wampler, 35, Fort Wayne, Ind., who was fined $10 and costs for speeding at 70 m.p.h. in a 60 mile zone. Ray F. Plymale, 63, Washington C. H., was fined $15 and costs for failure to yield the right-of-way. He was arrested by city police.

Stock Prices Are Irregular

NEW YORK (AP) — A decline in steel marred a feeble stock market advance today and prices were irregular early this afternoon in light dealings.

Reflecting the small change in the over-all market, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down a minimal .1 to 223.2 with industrials off .3, rails up .1 and utilities up .1.

Trading was the slowest of the week as the Labor Day weekend neared and some Wall Streeters began to depart for their last summer holiday.

Caution after possible developments after the Labor Day milestone has prevailed all this week and trading was lethargic, under the assumption that nothing much will happen to stock prices, barring surprise news, until after the weekend.

Steels were increasingly depressed by Wheeling Steel's dividend cut and expectations that others may follow. Motors perked up, however, all of them showing small gains. The rest of the list was scrambled.

Drug Called 'ABOB' Used To Curb Colds

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A drug to combat colds, a question about high protein diets, and a study of mental stress and tooth decay figure in the medical news: An anti-virus drug, nicknamed ABOB, often can prevent or suppress respiratory infections of the common cold type, a Swedish physician reports.

In tests in an industrial plant, ABOB was credited with reducing absenteeism from colds by 50 per cent, when workers took the drug at the first sign of symptoms. In another experiment when it was taken as a preventive, the incidence of colds was reduced by 50 to 40 per cent, says Dr. John Haglund of Koping, Sweden. High Protein Diets

A medical research team takes issue with the idea that a high protein diet allows the body to store up reserves of protein, useful later on if diseases strike or you have to go hungry. Such diets are being recommended for that reason.

There is no scientific evidence, from rat experiments, that the body can bank proteins, report Drs. L. Emmett Holt Jr., and Elias Halac Jr., and Charlotte N. Kujdi, A.B., of New York and Baltimore.

Mental stress and strain somehow may make teeth more susceptible to decay, at least in some adults, says an Australian dentist.

Dr. Philip R. N. Sutton of Melbourne checked records of hundreds of people and found that an outbreak of tooth decay frequently followed times of great mental worry or stress. But he says the findings thus far are only suggestive, nor conclusive.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Temperatures were a little warmer Wednesday night, and near dawn today representative readings around the state included Columbus 67, Cleveland 58, Cincinnati 64, Marietta 59.

Dry, warm weather was expected to continue today for the entire state with midafternoon temperatures near 90 in most sections.

The outlook for dry weather extends into tonight, with temperatures on Friday the combination of increasing humidity and an eastward-moving cold front extending from Northern Michigan into Illinois and Missouri most likely will produce scattered thundershowers in portions of western Ohio by mid-afternoon.

2 Painesville Children Drown while Swimming

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Two children of Mr. and Mrs. Ray J. Tkautz of Painesville drowned in the Grand River Wednesday. They had been swimming around pylons for a railroad bridge at the foot of Julia Street. Bodies of the victims—Pam, 10, and Jimmy, 8—were recovered by the Coast Guard and skin divers.

Jackie Tkautz, 5, was fishing from the river bank when he saw his brother and sister sink beneath the surface. He told sheriff's deputies the two went down together after they grabbed one another.

Goldberg Named To High Court

Goldberg is 54, greying, usually smiling, always bouncing around with seemingly unflagging energy. He was among those mentioned for the Supreme Court at the time Kennedy made his first appointment to the tribunal, that of Deputy Atty. Gen. Byron R. White.

Both Frankfurter and Goldberg are Jews. Both came from immigrant stock. Both battled their way upward. Both battled, to for unpopular causes they felt were right.

But Frankfurter's legal background was largely that of the Harvard professor.

Goldberg's 30 years of law were largely in the labor field. He had a key role in the merger of the AFL and CIO.

In Congress, words of regret that failing health had forced Frankfurter to retire were coupled with generous appraisals of Goldberg.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois—Chicago is Goldberg's home town—said the Cabinet member "measures up to every standard required for a place on the Supreme Court."

A number of Democrats were equally ready with applause. Goldberg's black-haired wife, Dorothy, said "a little boy was a dream—and it comes true. This is something incredible, he's always wanted it."

Goldberg, in Chicago for efforts to avert a threatened railroad strike, said "I shall, with the approval of the Senate, dedicate myself with all humility to this high calling."

Born in 1908, Goldberg was the youngest of eight children of a poverty-stricken Jewish couple who came to the United States from Russia. He got his first job at the age of 12, as a delivery boy.

For two years, he went to two colleges at once and worked nights to pay his way. He graduated from Northwestern University Law School, top man in the class of 1929 and got special permission to take the Illinois bar examination before he was 21.

By the mid-1930s, he was counsel for a number of unions. In World War II, Goldberg took a job with the Office of Strategic Services, organizing a giant espionage network of anti-Nazi transportation workers behind enemy lines.

As counsel for the CIO, he won the 1949 court ruling that made pensions a collective bargaining item. He helped engineer the agreement that created the AFL-CIO, and had leading roles in steel negotiations over a 10-year span.

Goldberg's wife is a well-known abstract painter. Modern paintings, some by Mrs. Goldberg, decorate the paneled Labor Department offices where Goldberg has spent many sleepless nights guiding marathon negotiating sessions.

The Goldbergs have two children.

Many lawyers who quaked in their boots at the razor-tongued Frankfurter's bench-jockeying no doubt greeted the end of an era with relief.

Frankfurter is a man of many images, of blazing contrasts. To his admirers, his many sides were the facets of a brilliant diamond.

To others they were pieces of a jig-saw puzzle.

He was gay, waspish, scholarly and sometimes downright rude. To those who met him socially, Frankfurter could be the life of the party, willing to discuss—and argue—any subject except Supreme Court business.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, who appointed him to the court, once said:

"Felix has more ideas per minute than any man in my acquaintance. He has a brilliant mind, but it clicks so fast it makes my head fairly spin. I find him tremendously interesting and stimulating."

Frankfurter and his wife have no children. Mrs. Frankfurter for years has suffered with arthritis and is said to be the only person who can calm him down.

Born in Vienna, Frankfurter didn't know a word of English when he arrived in the United States at the age of 12. He quickly made up for lost time.

His last major opinion read from the bench was a dissent that ran about 22,400 words.

In an early opinion Frankfurter noted that he wished to say "one word more," then said about 10,000 words more.

U.S. Weather Satellite Plan To Be Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Weather Bureau is considering an early start on regular operation of a satellite weather forecast system, using operational models of the present Tiro experimental satellite.

Dr. S. Fred Singer, director of the National Weather Satellite Center, described plans Wednesday to a House subcommittee.

The subcommittee heard testimony Tuesday that the Nimbus satellite, intended to be the regular weather forecasting system, is running six months to a year behind schedule.

Singer said he expects to present the new Tiro proposal to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the military, and other agencies concerned within a few weeks.

As for the delays in perfecting Nimbus, Singer defended NASA and the contractors working on the later-model weather satellite.

The delays are reported to result from technical difficulties, mainly with the control system to keep the satellite's instruments aimed always at the earth, but also with the power supply and some of the television equipment.

Ohio's Aged Pensioners Receive $7.1 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Payments to old age pensioners in Ohio during August amounted to $7,149,770, State Auditor James A. Rhodes reported today, an increase of $108,578 over the previous month. He said this brought to $14,190,962 the total payments for the first two months of the fiscal year, which was a decline of $266,340 from a corresponding period last year.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The greatest irony in Justice Felix Frankfurter's life is this: At the beginning and end of his career on the Supreme Court an attempt was made to give him a red tie.

It is ironic because this prime and pedantic justice who retired at 79 Wednesday because of illness went on the court as a hero to liberals and as the years passed increasingly disappointed them with his conservatism.

His whole life was dedicated to American constitutional and democratic processes but he could be painful. He lectured lawyers before the court, picking and pruning his way through their arguments.

He wrote opinions endlessly, when he was with the majority and when he was against it, particularly when he was against it. These opinions were often tough to read and full of hair-splitting.

When President Roosevelt appointed him to the court Jan. 5, 1939, and the Senate Judiciary Committee held hearings on the nomination, extreme right-wingers protested and made no air of the committee room full of anti-semitism.

It was Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling, author of the "Red Network," who tried to put the red tag on him. She said he had long been one of the principal "aides to the Red revolutionary movement in the United States."

Last May, while Frankfurter was home with the illness which forced his retirement, an extremely conservative Mississippi Democrat, Sen. James O. Eastland, attacked the Supreme Court in the Senate and said "a majority of the court voted in favor of the positions advocated by the Communist Party."

He put Frankfurter in the group. Eastland's performance was called a "disgrace" by the assistant Republican leader, Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California.

The day after Roosevelt appointed him, to the delight of liberals, the New York Times in a remarkably clairvoyant editorial predicted he would reveal an "organic conservatism."

Walton Hamilton, commenting in the Yale Law Review in 1947 on the mind of the conservative wing of the court, in which he placed Frankfurter, described this particular kind of mind as:

"So esoterically judicial that a slight deviation from court procedure—often existing only in the mind of the justice—is a mortal sin."

Hamilton sized up the differences between the court's liberals and conservatives as the difference between the "activist" and "legal" approach to cases.

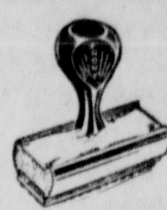

It was the difference between the "Let's be cautious" and "let's get moving" view of jurisprudence as Frankfurter had demonstrated a year before Hamilton wrote his piece.

In 1946 the court refused to tell state legislatures they had to reappoint their membership to give voters in a state fairer representation. Frankfurter, writing the opinion, said the court should not enter "this political thicket."

The "activists" took over in

By James Marlow

March this year when a majority, brushing aside Frankfurter's view of 1946, ruled for the first time that the court had to take a hand in reapportionment. It was a landmark decision but Frankfurter was still against it.

TODAY In History

Today is Thursday, Aug. 30, the 242nd day of 1962. There are 123 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this day in 1813, the nation suffered one of its worst Indian massacres—at Ft. Mims, 35 miles north of Mobile, Ala. Gaining entry into the stockade, Creek Indians left only 50 persons living out of the 553 who had sought refuge there. The deed precipitated the Creek War, ended by Indians in March of 1814.

On this date—

In 1862, the second battle of Bull Run was fought.

In 1916, Turkey declared war against Romania.

In 1924, the Dawes Plan for World War I reparations was signed in London.

In 1944 a French provisional government headed by Gen. De Gaulle was set up in Paris.

In 1945, 24 German leaders were indicted as war criminals.

Today's birthdays:

Diplomat Charles Bohlen is 58. Stage and TV star Shirley Booth is 55.

Employee Callback

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Eastern Air Lines says 450 employees in customer service won't be called back to work when the air line resumes full operations Sept. 12.

The 450 layoff notices today followed word sent 1,250 maintenance employees Tuesday that they will not be recalled. All are members of the International Association of Machinists and 1,150 of them live in Miami.

An Eastern spokesman gave two reasons for the layoffs.

"When we begin full service we will be operating with 34 fewer aircraft as a result of retirement of older engine aircraft," he said.

"Secondly, because of the strike we will be flying fewer total hours."

Derby News

Claribel and Patsy Winfough, Mrs. Jane Ridgeway, and Miss Nancy Smith returned home last Saturday evening from an eight day vacation trip to Niagara Falls, Montreal and Quebec, Canada. Returning they visited points of interest in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and New York.

Mrs. Helen Arledge is still a patient in Grant Hospital at this writing. It is hoped she will be well enough to return this weekend to her home.

A supper and shower was given on Saturday evening August 25 by Mrs. Betty Bauhan and Mrs. Betty Musselman honoring the coming marriage of Miss Bertie Looney to Mr. David Musselman. Relatives of both immediate families were present.

Mrs. Archie Sweet and daughter Susi, were guests on Wednesday at a cook-out at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Legg of Columbus. Also present were Charles Jr., Ricky Legg, Mrs. Ivarne Kasper and Mrs. Eulah Stevenson, all of Columbus.

Mrs. Nelle Bauhan spent several days the past week visiting with Mrs. Georgia Duke of Columbus.

Mr. Charles Smith has been ill at his home here for several days.

Vivian Vance Teams Again With Lucy in New TV Show

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Lucille Ball and Vivian Vance are back at the same old stand, three years and a few husbands later.

The famed red-haired star and her blonde partner are teamed once again for television, their first engagement together since the end of nine fabulous years of "I Love Lucy."

"This time it's 'The Lucy Show.' The girls are the same as ever, though their marital status needs some explaining.

Lucille, has shed her real and television husband, Desi Arnaz, and married comedian Gary Martin, but Desi remains producer of the new show.

Vivian is no longer married to her real spouse, actor Philip Ober, nor to William Frawley, her ever-loving husband of "I Love Lucy." She is now the wife of literary agent John Dodds.

To keep the confusion to the minimum, the new show features them husbandless — Lucille by death and Vivian by divorce.

What has Vivian been doing for the last three years?

"Everything I could," she replied. "I played the Jack Paar show, summer stock; I kept as busy as possible. There was a special reason for this.

"I had to find my own identity. I was so submerged in Ethel Mertz that I was afraid I would never again be recognized for myself. Oh, I was grateful to her for the biggest success I had ever known. But, being a creative person, I was worried that I would be stuck doing the same role all my life."

She is perhaps more aware of her identity than most persons. She suffered a nervous breakdown 10 years ago and spent several years in analysis.

Treatment restored her balance and left her a zealot for mental health. Now living in Stamford, she has spent much of her spare time in mental hospitals in Connecticut as a volunteer worker with patients.

She appears happy in her marriage to Dodds, whom she met on a blind date in Santa Fe, N.M. She started the series in July, will be finished with the 30-show season in February.

Doesn't she run the risk of submerging her identity again?

"I don't think so," she said. "At least my name is Vivian in the show. I'll be playing my own age and I can wear more attractive dresses. I had to play Ethel Mertz older and kind of dowdy; also, Ethel seldom smiled. Me, I like to be happy."

Drug Called 'ABOB' Used To Curb Colds

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A drug to combat colds, a question about high protein diets, and a study of mental stress and tooth decay figure in the medical news: An anti-virus drug, nicknamed ABOB, often can prevent or suppress respiratory infections of the common cold type, a Swedish physician reports.

In tests in an industrial plant, ABOB was credited with reducing absenteeism from colds by 50 per cent, when workers took the drug at the first sign of symptoms. In another experiment when it was taken as a preventive, the incidence of colds was reduced by 36 to 40 per cent, says Dr. John Haglund of Koping, Sweden.

High Protein Diets
A medical research team takes issue with the idea that a high protein diet allows the body to store up reserves of protein, useful later on if diseases strike or you have to go hungry. Such diets are being recommended for that reason.

There is no scientific evidence, from rat experiments, that the body can bank proteins, report Drs. L. Emmett Holt Jr., and Elias Halc Jr., and Charlotte N. Kajdi, A.B., of New York and Baltimore.

Worry and Teeth
Mental stress and strain somehow may make teeth more susceptible to decay, at least in some adults, says an Australian dentist.

Dr. Philip R. N. Sutton of Melbourne checked records of hundreds of people and found that an outbreak of tooth decay frequently followed times of great mental worry or stress. But he says the findings thus far are only suggestive, nor conclusive.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Temperatures were a little warmer Wednesday night, and near dawn today representative readings around the state included Columbus 67, Cleveland 53, Cincinnati 64, Marietta 59.

Dry, warm weather was expected to continue today for the entire state with midafternoon temperatures near 90 in most sections.

The outlook for dry weather extends into tonight, with temperatures on Friday the combination of increasing humidity and an eastward-moving cold front extending from Northern Michigan into Illinois and Missouri most likely will produce scattered thundershowers in portions of western Ohio by midafternoon.

2 Painesville Children Drown while Swimming

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Two children of Mr. and Mrs. Ray J. Tkautz of Painesville drowned in the Grand River Wednesday. They had been swimming around pylons for a railroad bridge at the foot of Julia Street. Bodies of the victims—Pam, 10, and Jimmy, 8—were recovered by the Coast Guard and skin divers.

Jackie Tkautz, 5, was fishing from the river bank when he saw his brother and sister sink beneath the surface. He told sheriff's deputies the two went down together after they grabbed one another.

Goldberg Named To High Court

Goldberg is 54, greying, usually smiling, always bouncing around with seemingly unflagging energy. He was among those mentioned for the Supreme Court at the time Kennedy made his first appointment to the tribunal, that of Deputy Atty. Gen. Byron R. White.

Both Frankfurter and Goldberg are Jews. Both came from immigrant stock. Both battled their way upward. Both battled, for unpopular causes they felt were right.

But Frankfurter's legal background was largely that of the Harvard professor. Goldberg's 30 years of law were largely in the labor field. He had a key role in the merger of the AFL and CIO.

In Congress, words of regret that failing health had forced Frankfurter to retire were coupled with generous appraisals of Goldberg.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois—Chicago is Goldberg's home town—said the Cabinet member "measures up to every standard required for a place on the Supreme Court."

A number of Democrats were equally ready with applause. Goldberg's black-haired wife, Dorothy, said "a little boy has a dream—and it comes true. This is something incredible, he's always wanted it."

Goldberg, in Chicago for efforts to avert a threatened railroad strike, said "I shall, with the approval of the Senate, dedicate myself with all humility to this high calling."

Born in 1908, Goldberg was the youngest of eight children of a poverty-stricken Jewish couple who came to the United States from Russia. He got his first job at the age of 12, as a delivery boy.

For two years, he went to two colleges at once and worked nights to pay his way. He graduated from Northwestern University Law School, top man in the class of 1929 and got special permission to take the Illinois bar examination before he was 21.

By the mid-1930s, he was counsel for a number of unions. In World War II, Goldberg took a job with the Office of Strategic Services, organizing a giant espionage network of anti-Nazi transportation workers behind enemy lines.

As counsel for the CIO, he won the 1949 court ruling that made pensions a collective bargaining item. He helped engineer the agreement that created the AFL-CIO, and had leading roles in steel negotiations over a 10-year span.

Goldberg's wife is a well-known abstract painter. Modern paintings, some by Mrs. Goldberg, decorate the paneled Labor Department offices where Goldberg has spent many sleepless nights guiding marathon negotiating sessions.

The Goldbergs have two children. Many lawyers who quaked in their boots at the razor-tongued Frankfurter's bench-jockeying no doubt greeted the end of an era with relief.

Frankfurter is a man of many images, of blazing contrasts. To his admirers, his many sides were the facets of a brilliant diamond.

To others they were pieces of a jigsaw puzzle. He was gay, waspish, scholarly and sometimes downright rude. To those who met him socially, Frankfurter could be the life of the party, willing to discuss—and argue — any subject except Supreme Court business.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, who appointed him to the court, once said: "Felix has more ideas per minute than any man in my acquaintance. He has a brilliant mind, but it clicks so fast it makes my head fairly spin. I find him tremendously interesting and stimulating."

Frankfurter and his wife have no children. Mrs. Frankfurter for years has suffered with arthritis and is said to be the only person who can calm him down.

Born in Vienna, Frankfurter didn't know a word of English when he arrived in the United States at the age of 12. He quickly made up for lost time.

His last major opinion read from the bench was a dissent that ran about 22,400 words.

In an early opinion Frankfurter noted that he wished to say "one word more," then said about 10,000 words more.

U.S. Weather Satellite Plan To Be Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Weather Bureau is considering an early start on regular operation of a satellite weather forecast system, using operational models of the present Tiro experimental satellite.

Dr. S. Fred Singer, director of the National Weather Satellite Center, described plans Wednesday to a House subcommittee.

The subcommittee heard testimony Tuesday that the Nimbus satellite, intended to be the regular weather forecasting system, is running six months to a year behind schedule.

Singer said he expects to present the new Tiro proposal to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the military, and other agencies concerned within a few weeks.

As for the delays in perfecting Nimbus, Singer defended NASA and the contractors working on the later-model weather satellite.

The delays are reported to result from technical difficulties, mainly with the control system to keep the satellite's instruments aimed always at the earth, but also with the power supply and some of the television equipment.

Ohio's Aged Pensioners Receive $7.1 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Payments to old age pensioners in Ohio during August amounted to $7,149,770, State Auditor James A. Rhodes reported today, an increase of $108,578 over the previous month. He said this brought to $14,190,962 the total payments for the first two months of the fiscal year, which was a decline of $266,340 from a corresponding period last year.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The greatest irony in Justice Felix Frankfurter's life is this: At the beginning and end of his career on the Supreme Court an attempt was made to give him a red tie.

It is ironic because this prime and pedantic justice who retired at 79 Wednesday because of illness went on the court as a hero to liberals and as the years passed increasingly disappointed them with his conservatism.

His whole life was dedicated to American constitutional and democratic processes but he could be painful. He lectured lawyers before the court, picking and pruning his way through their arguments.

He wrote opinions endlessly, when he was with the majority and when he was against it, particularly when he was against it. These opinions were often tough to read and full of hair-splitting.

When President Roosevelt appointed him to the court Jan. 5, 1939, and the Senate Judiciary Committee held hearings on the nomination, extreme right-wingers protested and made an air of the committee room foul with anti-semitism.

It was Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling, author of the "Red Network," who tried to put the red tag on him. She said he had long been one of the principal "aides to the Red revolutionary movement in the United States."

Last May, while Frankfurter was home with the illness which forced his retirement, an extremely conservative Mississippi Democrat, Sen. James O. Eastland, attacked the Supreme Court in the Senate and said "a majority of the court voted in favor of the positions advocated by the Communist Party."

He put Frankfurter in the group. Eastland's performance was called a "disgrace" by the assistant Republican leader, Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California.

The day after Roosevelt appointed him, to the delight of liberals, the New York Times in a remarkably clairvoyant editorial predicted he would reveal an "organic conservatism."

Walton Hamilton, commenting in the Yale Law Review in 1947 on the mind of the conservative wing of the court, in which he placed Frankfurter, described this particular kind of mind as: "So esoterically judicial that a slight deviation from court procedure—often existing only in the mind of the justice—is a mortal sin."

Hamilton sized up the differences between the court's liberals and conservatives as the difference between the "activist" and "legal" approach to cases.

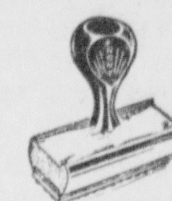

It was the difference between the "Let's be cautious" and "let's get moving" view of jurisprudence as Frankfurter had demonstrated a year before Hamilton wrote his piece.

In 1946 the court refused to tell state legislatures they had to reappoint their membership to give voters in a state fairer representation. Frankfurter, writing the opinion, said the court should not enter "this political thicket."

The "activists" took over in

By James Marlow

March this year when a majority, brushing aside Frankfurter's view of 1946, ruled for the first time that the court had to take a hand in reapportionment. It was a landmark decision but Frankfurter was still against it.

TODAY In History

Today is Thursday, Aug. 30, the 242nd day of 1962. There are 123 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1813, the nation suffered one of its worst Indian massacres—at Ft. Mims, 35 miles north of Mobile, Ala. Gaining entry into the stockade, Creek Indians left only 50 persons living out of the 553 who had sought refuge there. The deed precipitated the Creek War, ended by Indians in March of 1814.

On this date— In 1862, the second battle of Bull Run was fought.

In 1916, Turkey declared war against Romania.

In 1924, the Dawes Plan for World War I reparations was signed in London.

In 1944 a French provisional government headed by Gen. De Gaulle was set up in Paris.

In 1945, 24 German leaders were indicted as war criminals.

Today's birthdays: Diplomat Charles Bohlen is 38. Stage and TV star Shirley Booth is 55.

Thought for today: Remember blood is not nly thicker than water, but it bills me quickly.

Always a Doubter Present

Weary adults have often sighed and remarked that it would be wonderful if they could only think of some way to harness the kids' energy. They should have known that some day the government would come up with a plan.

Dr. Gerald F. Winfield, chief of the Agency for International Development's communications resources division, wants to send 1,000 television sets to underdeveloped regions in foreign nations so that "about 300 million children who can't go to school and 500 million adults who never went to school" can educate themselves through the marvel of the tiny screen.

The only hitch is that in most of those places there's no electricity. Simple, says the doctor. Use batteries. And to recharge them, use generators hooked up to play yard merry-go-rounds, which the children will spin around at a lively rate, thus developing more robust bodies while they charge the batteries that will enable them to develop better stocked minds.

About the screwiest proposition I ever heard of," snorted Rep. Porter Hardy of Virginia. He is chairman of a House Foreign Operations subcommittee which heard the proposal recently. He suggested Dr. Winfield also consider "bringing in big felines from the jungle and rubbing their fur to produce static electricity."

There always has to be a doubter in the crowd.

No Feline Corps

Washington, D. C., police department now has 49 dogs on duty, and more German shepherds are being trained to keep the peace in the capital of the U. S. Elsewhere cities are pinning figurative badges on the chests of police dogs to fight the good fight against crime.

Only the other day a news item was devoted to Duke, the ace sniffer of the St. Louis police department, who nosed aside 10 pounds of tempting frankfurters in a restaurant refrigerator and nobly searched out eight packages of marijuana.

The only point in moralizing further about police dogs is to congratulate cat fanciers on probably never having to face the prospect of raising their pets to be police cats. If cats were ever issued with nightsticks and sent stalking through the alleys, it would be discovered soon that a pinch of catnip would divert even the best-trained, most honorable and conscientious cat from its civic duty.

The cat doesn't live, not even once let alone nine times, who could resist the lure of the aromatic weed spread by human criminals. So let's have no more loose talk about a feline police corps, if there ever was any.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — The furor over whether mutual funds are managed to the small investor's greatest benefit points up yet another angle of the securities business—the growing dominance of financial institutions in the corporate field.

Mutual funds, pension funds, foundations, insurance companies, personal trust, college endowment funds and the like, all are steadily increasing their share of outstanding common stock in the larger and more prominent corporations—whether blue chip or growth.

Since the 17 million individuals who own shares rarely hold a large percentage per person in any one company, the influence of the big institutional investors grows more important each year. Traditionally the funds have stressed that they do not interfere in corporate management. The publicly stated policy is to switch holdings if a company's future looks doubtful or its management ill-advised. But there have of late been a few instances when large institutional holders have questioned whether they should follow this course or take a hand in bettering affairs.

The phenomenal popularity of the mutual funds—total assets soaring from $1.5 billion in 1948 to $19.5 billion today—has meant a growing ownership by these financial institutions of common stocks in U. S. industry, although total assets also include other form of investment.

Pension funds have grown as fast or faster. And they have bought more common stock in recent years than have the mutual funds. Pension fund purchases last year alone are put at $2 billion. Their total reserves, including other forms of investment, are estimated as high as $55 billion.

Personal trusts managed by banks or professional investment advisers are put at around $60 billion. The amount in common stock fluctuates as first stocks or then bonds look better to the experts.

Life insurance reserves of around $128 billion are only partly invested in common stock. But such investment holdings add to the total in institutional rather than private hands.

Foundations often hold huge blocks of common stock in one corporation. Although frequently such shares are denied voting privileges, the ownership of company assets is still a potential, and the dividend take is a very tangible fact of corporate life.

Few large corporations have any one individual shareowner with a large percentage of outstanding stock. Often the biggest holder is a pension fund, or some other financial institution.

Against some 17 million individuals who own shares personally, there are about 100 million who are benefitted by corporate profits as dividends are paid to the pension funds or other institutional investments in which they are involved.

LAFF-A-DAY

"Helen, has anyone ever told you that you're beautiful?"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

WHEN SARAH BERNHARDT, the great French actress, was touring Nevada, she was interviewed by an alert and attractive young reporter named Sam Davis, who told her, "I'm doing this not only for my own paper in Carson, Nevada, but for the San Francisco Examiner, and the United Press."

Miss Bernhardt was delighted with him, and when he rose to go she kissed him first on each cheek, then squarely on the lips. "The right cheek for your paper in Carson," she explained, "the left for the Examiner, and the lips, my friend, for yourself."

Davis took this tribute in stride. "Madame Bernhardt," he announced impressively, "I also represent the United Press, which serves over 60 papers west of the Mississippi River alone."

There's a man in the Chicago weather bureau named Charles Fairbanks! Furthermore, Mr. Fairbanks received this message recently from a suburbanite in Glenview: "Dear Mr. Fairbanks: I thought you'd like to know that I have just shoveled eleven inches of Partly Cloudy off my driveway."

"What a pity," sighed a mother of seven, "that you can't treat your first child the way you treat your first pancake: just throw it away!"

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.
Imagine! Only ten years old and stuck on glue!

Glue-sniffing is the latest kick discovered by boys from seven to 17.

A few whiffs from a tube squeezed into a handkerchief or sock and they're floating on Cloud 9.

When they heat some glue, marking pencil or lacquer-thinner in a saucepan, the whole gang starts flying. Everyone sees double, hears loud noises, falls flat on his face and passes out for an hour or so.

Sniffers don't inhale the glue itself. The kick comes from fast-evaporating chemicals used to dissolve glues, grease, paints and plastics.

Some of these chemicals poison the bone marrow, bringing on leukemia-like tragedy. Others attack heart, liver and kidneys. Some—like prohibition's Jamaica ginger (jake) and Morocco's machine oil—paralyze nerves.

Sniffers can't tell whether or not they're inhaling poison. Doctors are first studying the long-range effects.

Picture a classroom where students sniff, pass out and have to be carried away!

Tense and worried sniffers can't stop the habit even though they believe both mind and life are fading. What started as a few whiffs soon builds to several tubes. The craving mushrooms.

Boys fight. Petty robbery spirals into major crime. Dope peddlers should find glue-sniffers ready recruits.

Sniffers broadcast bad breath. The vapor irritates. Noses run and mouths drool. Appetite and weight shrink as stomachs rumble uneasily.

The sniffing kick started in the slums where parents were either too strict or not around.

It's a habit that can easily spread to homes in better neighborhoods where children can't stand lonely, unhappy lives.

Restricting glue sales might help. But to dissolve away glue problems, stick close to home and be a friend as well as a parent!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Israel's Kick in the Pants

By George Sokolsky

Daniel Laor, Public Relations Officer for Israel, sent me the official statement of Israel on the Soblen Case. His letter starts with this paragraph:

"I am sure that many of the emotional comments on the Soblen case — with reference to Israel's part — have resulted simply from confusion and misunderstanding emanating from the manner in which this story has been covered.

This is a wholly incorrect point of view. The issue to most Americans is very simple and will not be confused by legalisms. Of course, each country has a right to its own laws. Also, each country needs friends and allies. If Israel can afford to lose the friendship of the United States and the American people, that is their judgement.

Dr. Robert Soblen is a convicted spy for Soviet Russia. He was convicted in the United States. He disgraced Israel by taking refuge in that country. Israel, as a country, as a country which has enjoyed the friendship of the United States and the financial aid of the American people, should not have permitted a legalism to forbid the El Al airplane to bring him back to the United States.

Representative Leonard Farbstain said in the House of Representatives:

"The Government of Israel has defined this step as an act of expulsion; there is no reason to quibble about legal terminology — it is in any case clear that what the Government of Israel did on that day did not, to say the very least, make it at all difficult for Soblen to find himself back in this country. Whoever may have 'groomed' in not keeping an eagle eye on Soblen either in New York or upon that plane, it is surely not the Israelis whom we can blame for that!"

It is scandalous that there has not been an investigation as to who groomed and permitted Soblen to escape from New York. Representatives Celler and Walters and Senators Eastland and McClellan have committed to do the investigating. Their failure to act is beyond understanding, unless they feel that party politics are more important than the security of their country.

are being supplied with arms to destroy Israel.

For the United States, the issue ought to be clear as to Great Britain, Israel, Brazil and Switzerland. Those who give refuge to our criminals and to currency stolen from this country are our enemies. Those who are not with us are against us.

We have acted as Atlas, holding the world on our shoulders, financing and nourishing friend and foe. And when those whom we help get strong enough, they kick us in the pants. It is time to call a halt to the indignity of this situation.

Letter to The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. They must be signed by the writer with a complete return address. However the name and address will not be used in the published letter upon request of the writer. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

Dear Editor:

I received the most heart warming letter telling me to thank the good citizens of Circleville for the blood that was donated for Lois Anderson at Children's Hospital, Columbus.

Mrs. Anderson wrote that Lois received 25 pints. She can't thank the people enough. It was a big load off her mind.

To quote a small part of her letter, so you and the people of Circleville may get some idea of how this mother feels: "It was a big help to us. If you can, please thank the people and the boys who gave blood for Lois. We didn't know where or how it was going to be replaced. She has enough now. Thanks again."

I know how Mrs. Anderson feels. I want to thank the persons that so willingly gave their blood to help Lois who was seriously burned in a fire several weeks ago. Thank God! There are still people in this world who can extend a wonderful helping hand to those who need it.

I know of some of the wonderful help that was given to me in my time of need. So thanking you, and all persons that helped Lois, Mrs. Rose Anderson and myself.

May God bless you all.

Always a Doubter Present

Weary adults have often sighed and remarked that it would be wonderful if they could only think of some way to harness the kids' energy. They should have known that some day the government would come up with a plan.

Dr. Gerald F. Winfield, chief of the Agency for International Development's communications resources division, wants to send 1,000 television sets to underdeveloped regions in foreign nations so that "about 300 million children who can't go to school and 500 million adults who never went to school" can educate themselves through the marvel of the tiny screen.

The only hitch is that in most of those places there's no electricity. Simple, says the doctor. Use batteries. And to recharge them, use generators hooked up to play yard merry-go-rounds, which the children will spin around at a lively rate, thus developing more robust bodies while they charge the batteries that will enable them to develop better stocked minds.

About the screwiest proposition I ever heard of," snorted Rep. Porter Hardy of Virginia. He is chairman of a House Foreign Operations subcommittee which heard the proposal recently. He suggested Dr. Winfield also consider "bringing in big felines from the jungle and rubbing their fur to produce static electricity."

There always has to be a doubter in the crowd.

No Feline Corps

Washington, D. C., police department now has 49 dogs on duty, and more German shepherds are being trained to keep the peace in the capital of the U. S. Elsewhere cities are pinning figurative badges on the chests of police dogs to fight the good fight against crime.

Only the other day a news item was devoted to Duke, the ace sniffer of the St. Louis police department, who nosed aside 10 pounds of tempting frankfurters in a restaurant refrigerator and nobly searched out eight packages of marijuana.

The only point in moralizing further about police dogs is to congratulate cat fanciers on probably never having to face the prospect of raising their pets to be police cats. If cats were ever issued with nightsticks and sent stalking through the alleys, it would be discovered soon that a pinch of catnip would divert even the best-trained, most honorable and conscientious cat from its civic duty.

The cat doesn't live, not even once let alone nine times, who could resist the lure of the aromatic weed spread by human criminals. So let's have no more loose talk about a feline police corps, if there ever was any.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — The furor over whether mutual funds are managed to the small investor's greatest benefit points up yet another angle of the securities business—the growing dominance of financial institutions in the corporate field.

Mutual funds, pension funds, foundations, insurance companies, personal trusts, college endowment funds and the like, all are steadily increasing their share of outstanding common stock in the larger and more prominent corporations—whether blue chip or growth.

Since the 17 million individuals who own shares rarely hold a large percentage per person in any one company, the influence of the big institutional investors grows more important each year. Traditionally the funds have stressed that they do not interfere in corporate management. The publicly stated policy is to switch holdings if a company's future looks doubtful or its management ill-advised. But there have of late been a few instances when large institutional holders have questioned whether they should follow this course or take a hand in bettering affairs.

The phenomenal popularity of the mutual funds—total assets soaring from $1.5 billion in 1948 to $19.5 billion today—has meant a growing ownership by these financial institutions of common stocks in U. S. industry, although total assets also include other form of investment.

Pension funds have grown as fast or faster. And they have bought more common stock in recent years than have the mutual funds. Pension fund purchases last year alone are put at $2 billion. Their total reserves, including other forms of investment, are estimated as high as $55 billion.

Personal trusts managed by banks or professional investment advisers are put at around $60 billion. The amount in common stock fluctuates as first stocks or then bonds look better to the experts.

Life insurance reserves of around $128 billion are only partly invested in common stock. But such investment holdings add to the total in institutional rather than private hands.

Foundations often hold huge blocks of common stock in one corporation. Although frequently such shares are denied voting privileges, the ownership of company assets is still a potential, and the dividend take is a very tangible fact of corporate life.

Few large corporations have any one individual shareowner with a large percentage of outstanding stock. Often the biggest holder is a pension fund, or some other financial institution.

Against some 17 million individuals who own shares personally, there are about 100 million who are benefitted by corporate profits as dividends are paid to the pension funds or other institutional investments in which they are involved.

LAFF-A-DAY

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

WHEN SARAH BERNHARDT, the great French actress, was touring Nevada, she was interviewed by an alert and attractive young reporter named Sam Davis, who told her, "I'm doing this not only for my own paper in Carson, Nevada, but for the San Francisco Examiner, and the United Press."

Miss Bernhardt was delighted with him, and when he rose to go she kissed him first on each cheek, then squarely on the lips. "The right cheek for your paper in Carson," she explained, "the left for the Examiner, and the lips, my friend, for yourself."

Davis took this tribute in stride. "Madame Bernhardt," he announced impressively, "I also represent the United Press, which serves over 60 papers west of the Mississippi River alone."

There's a man in the Chicago weather bureau named Charles Fairbanks! Furthermore, Mr. Fairbanks received this message recently from a suburbanite in Glencoe: "Dear Mr. Fairbanks: I thought you'd like to know that I have just shoveled eleven inches of Partly Cloudy off my driveway."

"What a pity," sighed a mother of seven, "that you can't treat your first child the way you treat your first pancake: just throw it away!"

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.
Imagine! Only ten years old and stuck on glue!

Glue-sniffing is the latest kick discovered by boys from seven to 17.

A few whiffs from a tube squeezed into a handkerchief or sock and they're floating on Cloud 9.

When they heat some glue, marking pencil or lacquer-thinner in a saucepan, the whole gang starts flying. Everyone sees double, hears loud noises, falls flat on his face and passes out for an hour or so.

Sniffers don't inhale the glue itself. The kick comes from fast-evaporating chemicals used to dissolve glues, grease, paints and plastics.

Some of these chemicals poison the bone marrow, bringing on leukemia-like tragedy. Others attack heart, liver and kidneys. Some—like prohibition's Jamaica ginger (jake) and Morocco's machine oil—paralyze nerves.

Sniffers can't tell whether or not they're inhaling poison. Doctors are first studying the long-range effects.

Picture a classroom where students sniff, pass out and have to be carried away!

Tense and worried sniffers can't stop the habit even though they believe both mind and life are fading. What started as a few whiffs soon builds to several tubes. The craving mushrooms.

Boys fight. Petty robbery spirals into major crime. Dope peddlers should find glue-sniffers ready recruits.

Sniffers broadcast bad breath. The vapor irritates. Noses run and mouths drool. Appetite and weight shrink as stomachs rumble uneasily.

The sniffing kick started in the slums where parents were either too strict or not around.

It's a habit that can easily spread to homes in better neighborhoods where children can't stand lonely, unhappy lives.

Restricting glue sales might help. But to dissolve away glue problems, stick close to home and be a friend as well as a parent!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Israel's Kick in the Pants

By George Sokolsky

Daniel Laor, Public Relations Officer for Israel, sent me the official statement of Israel on the Soblen Case. His letter starts with this paragraph:

"I am sure that many of the emotional comments on the Soblen case — with reference to Israel's part — have resulted simply from confusion and misunderstanding emanating from the manner in which this story has been covered."

This is a wholly incorrect point of view. The issue to most Americans is very simple and will not be confused by legalisms. Of course, each country has a right to its own laws. Also, each country needs friends and allies. If Israel can afford to lose the friendship of the United States and the American people, that is their judgement.

Dr. Robert Soblen is a convicted spy for Soviet Russia. He was convicted in the United States. He disgraced Israel by taking refuge in that country. Israel, as a country, as a country which has the friendship of the United States and the financial aid of the American people, should not have permitted a legalism to forbid the El Al airplane to bring him back to the United States.

Representative Leonard Farbstein said in the House of Representatives:

"The Government of Israel has defined this step as an act of expulsion; there is no reason to quibble about legal terminology — it is in any case clear that what the Government of Israel did on that day did not, to say the very least, make it at all difficult for Soblen to find himself back in this country. Whoever may have 'goofed' in not keeping an eagle eye on Soblen either in New York or upon that plane, it is surely not the Israelis whom we can blame for that!"

It is scandalous that there has not been an investigation as to who goofed and permitted Soblen to escape from New York. Representatives Celler and Walters and Senators Eastland and McClellan have committed to do the investigating. Their failure to act is beyond understanding, unless they feel that party politics are more important than the security of their country.

Representative Farbstein says: "One hears a great deal concerning friends and friendship, but such words are apparently used lightly and freely. I can think of few examples of acts by a foreign government which would prove the spirit of friendship more indisputably than the action of the Government of Israel on the first of July."

This is utter nonsense. The refusal to put Soblen on an El Al airplane which was in London opened the door for further legalisms in Great Britain which acts without consistency. As a member of NATO, Great Britain should ship this spy to the United States for imprisonment. Britain's peculiarities are no excuse for Israel's peculiarities.

Israel has not yet been stabilized. The country needs friends. The market for its bonds is in the United States. Representative Farbstein does not serve Israel well when he repeats in his statement, phrase by phrase, the apology of the Israeli Foreign Office. Nor does Premier Ben Gurion serve the Americans of Jewish origin well when he says that those who do not go to Israel are not truly Jews. There is nothing in Jewish history or religion to justify such chauvinistic chatter.

I have all my life been favorable to the establishment of a Jewish homeland in Palestine for those who need or want to go there. But I never forsook the possibility of Israel giving protection to a convicted Russian spy simply because his parents were Lithuanian Jews. Never in his life did Robert Soblen show any evidence of being a Jew or being interested in Jewish life. Some Israeli can say that should he return to Israel, he will be permitted to go to Communist Czechoslovakia from whose Skoda Works, Nasser and other Arabs are being supplied with arms to destroy Israel.

For the United States, the issue ought to be clear as to Great Britain, Israel, Brazil and Switzerland. Those who give refuge to our criminals and to currency stolen from this country are our enemies. Those who are not with us are against us.

We have acted as Atlas, holding the world on our shoulders, financing and nourishing friend and foe. And when those whom we help get strong enough, they kick us in the pants. It is time to call a halt to the indignity of this situation.

Dear Editor:

I received the most heart warming letter telling me to thank the good citizens of Circleville for the blood that was donated for Lois Anderson at Children's Hospital, Columbus.

Mrs. Anderson wrote that Lois received 25 pints. She can't thank the people enough. It was a big load off her mind.

To quote a small part of her letter, so you and the people of Circleville may get some idea of how this mother feels: "It was a big help to us. If you can, please thank all the people and the boys who gave blood for Lois. We didn't know where or how it was going to be replaced. She has enough now. Thanks again."

I know how Mrs. Anderson feels. I want to thank the persons that so willingly gave their blood to help Lois who was seriously burned in a fire several weeks ago. Thank God! There are still people in this world who can extend a wonderful helping hand to those who need it.

I know of some of the wonderful help that was given to me in my time of need. So thanking you and all persons that helped Lois, Mrs. Rose Anderson and myself.

May God bless you all.

St. Ann's Guild Holds Meet

St. Ann's Guild of St. Philip's Episcopal Church met recently at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Goeller Jr., 832 Pershing Drive.

A brief business meeting was conducted and Mrs. John Payne, ways and means chairman, announced that the guild will conduct a bake sale Saturday at the Kenworthy Appliance Store, W. Main St.

Mrs. Robert Brehmer Jr. introduced Arnold Ages, guest speaker, whose subject for the evening was "The Beliefs and Customs of the Orthodox Jewish Church." Mr. Ages is an instructor in the Language Department at Ohio State University. He has studied the Bible, Hebrew and Jewish Histories at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem and is assistant to Rabbi Harry Kaplan, director of the Hillel Foundation, a national religious and cultural organization which offers counseling services to students of the Jewish faith.

Mr. Ages presented four concepts of the Orthodox Jewish Church. The first of these is the belief in God as a unique single deity, indivisible in oneness and from him all men emanate. Second is the observance of the mitzvah or pious deed. These are all types of commanded behavior intended to guide the Jew through every moment of his life.

The Jewish culture and civilization representing them as a nation is the third concept.

Adherence to the Talmud or Oral Law is the fourth concept. The Talmud is a folio of laws concerning religious, economic, family and cultural life.

Mr. Ages defined some of the traditions and customs of the Orthodox Jewish Church. The Jew recites his prayers twice every morning and once in the evening. The daily morning prayers are accompanied by the wearing of small boxes, one on the head, the other on the left arm pointing to the heart. The boxes contain quotations from the Bible, reminding Jews of their liberation, of the commandment to observe Passover and prayers which affirm the unity of God.

Every traditional Jewish home observes the dietary laws. The laws refer first to foods that may not be eaten at all. Among these are fish which do not have scales or fins and shellfish. Among mammals only those which have cloven hoofs and which chew the cud are permitted. In the family of fowl certain specific birds are forbidden.

Meat must be slaughtered according to certain rules to be permitted for consumption. Meat and milk are never eaten at the same meal, always separately. Two sets of dishes are used, one for the meat and one for the dairy foods.

Mr. Ages then discussed briefly a few of the differences in Orthodox, Reform and Conservative Jewish faiths. The Orthodox group strictly adhere to tradition. The Reform group has urged the abandonment of those rites which set the Jew apart from his neighbor to too great an extent. The Conservative group is midway between the Orthodox and the Reform. They believe in retaining a maximum of the tradition, but their leaders feel the need for adaptation to new conditions.

Beauty in the Driver's Seat

GRACEFUL EXIT — To get out of a car when wearing a short skirt use handbag to cover your knees.

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

Distance doesn't always lend enchantment. It doesn't, for example, when you're driving the distance and have everything mapped out except a formula for facing up prettily to the rigors of the road.

How do you keep your eye on glamour, while your foot's on the gas?

Here are some tips for maintaining beauty in the driver's seat:

Select clothes that travel well, such as simply styled knits or crease-resistant fabrics in bright or dark solid colors or prints, with skirts that are neither pencil-slim nor billowy and bouffant.

Avoid fabrics that need starching, pastel colors, styles that are very dressy, a bit too sporty (shorts or slacks), or casual to the point of appearing sloppy.

Make minor costume changes in the car before a stop for dinner or at journey's end. Flat-heeled driving shoes and a head scarf can be exchanged for high heels, a hat or headband. Gloves can be added.

Pack a queen-size carry-all with beauty aids and other accessories you'll want accessible while you're in transit. Include the following:

Beauty Aids: Foil - packaged lotion - saturated pads or washcloths (for quick hand and face clean - ups); washcloth and a large cake of soap (for more thorough cleanings); hairbrush and a large comb (unbreakable so it will easily unsnarl windblown hair); bobby pins, curlers and hair spray (for quick sets while cleaning up and applying new make-up); make-up, of course! You'll also need facial tissues, cotton balls, suntan lotion, petroleum jelly (excellent for windburn-

Miss Iles, Mr. Wiggins Are Engaged

MISS MARJIE ILES

Mr. and Mrs. Allen C. Iles of Laurelvile, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Marjie Lou, to Mr. Samuel Lowell Wiggins, son of Mrs. Virginia Wiggins, Laurelvile, and the late Mr. Virgil Wiggins.

Miss Iles is a 1959 graduate of South Bloomingville High School. She is now employed at the General Electric Plant, Circleville.

Mr. Wiggins is a 1957 graduate of Laurelvile High School and has completed three years service with the U. S. Army. He is employed at the local DuPont plant, Circleville.

The wedding will be an event of Sept. 28 at the EUB Church, Laurelvile.

Good Groomers: Spot remover, sewing kit, neutral shoe polish and a shine cloth, clothes brush, safety pins, extra hosiery and clean white gloves.

The aids suggested should keep you looking charming even if you are long - distance driving. But there's still one thing that can spoil even a wonderfully well-groomed woman driver's appearance.

What is it? The way she gets in and out of a car! Practice until you know how to make a graceful entrance and exit. Some things to remember are:

1. Move sideways. The feminine figure is at its most awkward in a head-first lunge or a derriere-first plunge.
 2. Keep your torso straight. To make yourself vertically compact, lower your head and bend knees. Bending at the waist makes your derriere jut out!
 3. When wearing a short skirt, cover knees with your handbag or, if both hands are free, use one to anchor your dress hem.
- Step out in style! That's the motto for beauty behind the wheel!

Dear Abby: by Abigail Van Buren

Take Him to Doctor

DEAR ABBY: My husband has started something new lately. He calls me every hour to see if I am home. If I happen to be out (only to the grocery store or to do some household errands) he starts calling all my neighbors to find out when they last saw me. I have four children who keep me very busy and I have no time for any monkey business. I have never given my husband any reason to doubt me. His constant questioning of the neighbors as to my whereabouts has made me look like a woman who can't be trusted and who neglects her children. I am 38 and he is 55. Could his age have something to do with it?

CHECKED ON
DEAR CHECKED: Possibly men, as well as women, experience glandular and chemical changes between 50 and 60. Your doctor can tell you whether it's his age or not.

DEAR ABBY: A church-going woman asked me if I would bake a dozen pies for our Ladies' Aid Bake Sale. I am famous for my cherry pies and everybody who has ever eaten one goes crazy over it. I told her I would do it if they were sold for no less than 75 cents each as each pie serves eight and is a real treat. She promised and I made the pies.

I later found out that SHE didn't even put my pies out for sale. She took them home and put them all in HER OWN FREEZER. Then she put $2.00 in the register. What would you do about it? She was chairman of the Bake Sale.

BURNED UP
DEAR BURNED: This was a lot of crust! Tell her she owes the bake sale seven dollars.

DEAR ABBY: I didn't marry

my wife to sit in the front seat with another man while she sits in the back seat and yaks with her girl friend. Whenever we go for a drive with another couple, I'm stuck with the other man in the front seat while my wife had the other lady sit together in the back. I don't have anything to talk to the man about, but what am I supposed to do?

STUCK IN FRONT
DEAR STUCK: Tell your wife you prefer her company to the husbands of her friends. She should chat with her lady friends in the afternoons.

DEAR ABBY: I am a teen-ager, and this little question helped me a lot. Maybe it will help others: "If someone gave you a dime for every kind word you said about someone, and collected a nickel for every unkind word, would you be rich or poor?"

Old Maple in Justice Yard Has Story-Book Treehouse

By MRS. ELIZABETH JONES

Ask a crazy question and you know what kind of answer you get. So don't ask the Justice children in Whisler if they are glad school is starting. After all why should they be?

The Justice kids have a big yard, lots of Whisler playmates, a dad who is handy with tools and an enormous maple tree.

They have a new teeter-totter, swings, backboard for basketball practice and climbing everything, a beautifully constructed treehouse in their big old maple.

In the first place neither Lynn, 10; Tim, 7; Jay, 6 or Missy, 4, could resist climbing in the maple tree. They also seemed to get a hang out of mounting the top of the garage and balancing themselves along the roof peak. To the concern of neighbors!

THE MAPLE tree which measures 25 feet in circumference was a great location for a treehouse. Carl Justice father of the tribe, built a platform first. Tim fell off and cracked his head — so tree house operations were called to a halt. The big maple was forbidden territory. That, I understand, was when the Justice kids took to balancing on the garage roof.

So Carl and Mary Ann Justice decided on a real treehouse with walls. And that's what it is. Two ladders are securely fastened to the enormous old tree trunk. One goes to the first crotch in the tree, the other ladder leads to the trapdoor.

The treehouse is easily reached. The garden editor was invited to mount the ladders and inspect it. After the trapdoor was closed the elevated hideaway was as safe as one's own livingroom.

There are windows on all four sides. Later Carl Justice may make window panes of "Mylar". Right now the kids enjoy the fresh air and the outlook on all four sides.

To the east one may even get a glimpse of the Hocking County Hills.

When the garden editor asked what the treehouse was used for, the boys said "for fightin'" and the girls said, "to play house in".

ACTUALLY, according to Mrs. Justice, the boys use it as a clubhouse. And the girls play house and school there.

When the girls had a session of "house" they left a toy refrigerator and a toy stove. They also had plans for framing the view with filmy window curtains. The boys scorned the curtain idea.

This was when most of the "fightin'" occurred. Mrs. Justice was able to induce both sides to compromise. The young homemakers were to forego the curtains. When they were finished playing house they were to put the toy refrigerator and stove in a corner and the boys promised to leave things that way.

The playhouse is large enough

Give Sun Flower Seeds Try; Growers Say They Are Good

Mrs. Charles Brown, 305 W. Mound St., raises sunflowers.

One of her plants this year is topped with four big sunflowers. According to Mrs. Brown it is a regular bouquet on top of the plant. She has promised to take a picture of it.

Ordinarily sunflowers have one giant blossom and any other blooms are more or less subsidiary in Mrs. Brown's experience.

Mrs. Brown says that she saves sunflower seeds and roasts them like peanuts and that they are just "real good" to eat. She dries them, roasts them in the oven and after the outer shell is removed, eats the tasty kernel.

IT'S SORT of like eating peanuts. To remove the outer shell just crack with your teeth.

Mrs. Brown says this is an old fashioned "goody" and that past generations often enjoyed these sunflower delicacies.

So if you've been raising sunflower seeds for the redbirds, just snitch a few for yourself. After all I understand that pumpkin seeds are considered mighty good in some parts of the country.

TREEHOUSE IN WHISLER — This well-constructed treehouse is the work of Carl Justice who built it for his own four youngsters in particular and their assorted friends in general. Peeking out the windows are the Justice youngsters — Lynn, 10, who is glad, in a way, that school is starting tomorrow, but sorry, too; Tim, 7; Jay, 6; and Missy, 4. The big tree is a maple, well over 50-years-old and a perfect place for an elevated house. (Staff Photo)

Carl Justice has no idea how old the maple tree is. But it is an exceedingly big one. Known as a soft maple, it is the sort of tree that is frequently damaged during

Bring House Plants Inside This Month

Destroy Weak Ones That No Longer Give Decorative Effect

Vacation time for house plants, like for humans, is over in most sections of the United States right after Labor Day.

The Society of American Florists suggests that potted house plants be brought indoors at least several weeks before artificial heat is turned on in homes. This will enable plants to adapt themselves to indoor living conditions without the additional discomfort of enduring hot, dry air of heated homes.

The Society explains that plants thrive in warm, moist weather, such as that outdoors in summer. If they are not moved indoors until late fall, when the weather turns cold and homes are artificially heated, the abrupt change in their mode of living most likely will harm them, SAF says.

The Society provided these suggestions:

BEFORE bringing plants indoors, they should be sprayed with an insecticide to rid them of any insect pests. The outdoors of all pots should be cleaned by scrubbing them with a brush and water.

The top soil of plants still actively growing should be removed down to the roots, and replaced with a mixture of two-thirds garden soil, one-third thoroughly rotted manure and bonemeal, at the rate of one teaspoonful to each six-inch pot.

At moving time, discard those "weak-sister" plants no longer decorative because of ill-health. If they failed to recover sufficiently during their vacation outdoors, they are not likely to improve indoors. Retained plants should be placed near windows, at sunny or shady locations they prefer, and be given routine care during the winter months.

storms. This one seems to have survived.

So school isn't looking too enticing to the three Justices who are of school age. There's just too much going on at home.

CARL JUSTICE, however, not content with building a teeter-totter for his own kids, is refinishing the Saltcreek School Teeter-totter boards and planning down and painting the swing seats for the school.

Perhaps the treehouse will prove even more enticing when the Justices come home from school in the afternoon than it does even now.

Anyway, I'd say that not since the Mr. and Mrs. Robinson in "Swiss Family Robinson" took to treehouses on their island, has there been such a fine model as that of the Justice kids in Whisler.

Try Sowing Hardy Annuals

Many of the stores are still displaying seeds.

Before it is too late, visit the seed merchants with an eye to autumn seed sowing. Look the seed racks over and purchase hardy annuals that may be sown this fall.

Flowers like larkspur and annual poppies, if sown in late fall, will get an earlier start and be blooming in late May. The cold weather will not injure these seeds.

If you are wondering just what seeds to purchase for fall sowing, go over in your mind which of your annuals self sows with volunteer plants in the spring.

POPPIES, larkspur, Bells of Ireland, collinsia or Blue-eyed Mary and corn flowers as well as cleome or spider plant are a few of these hardy annuals.

It will pay to get out your spring seed catalogues and order some packets of these old favorites if you cannot find them in the local racks.

Seed saving is a good idea for people who want large areas of flowers. Mrs. Herman Davis, Route 1, Kingston, has a big planting of zinnias across from her house along the road. She saves seed from year to year.

Larky Huffman at Whisler has glorious zinnias in a large planting to one side of his house. They were saved seeds from last year's crop.

Seed packets are designed for garden rows, not for dramatic splashes of color, in large plantings.

This is the time of year for coasting — garden-wise, that is. So take it easy. Lots of folks can't even water these days.

Country wells are at an all summer low. And Ervin Leist is asking city people to go easy on the water.

I figure everything'll straighten out when we get our first big rain.

The Robert Jones family on the Tarlton Pike completely did over the front yard. It was plowed and harrowed and reseeded. The kids gathered stones that were upturned in the plowing. Quite a task.

If a lawn is a complete failure, all weeds and wild grass. Erase may be used and the new seed planted in the stubble within five days. If your lawn is smooth, do it this way.

When I ask people I meet what's blooming in their gardens they say "Petunias".

And they need not be apologetic. Heat and lack of moisture have done a good job.

Mrs. Ed Wallace, N. Court St., says her phlox, daylilies and roses were mighty fine last month. Now its her marigolds.

Mrs. Ed Helwage confides that her husband is a fine grass man, but she does not trust him in the flowers.

Mrs. Donald Watt has a had a border of variegated hosta, a most effective plant with green leaves edged in white. This year many of the plants are all green. She is not sure what is causing the change.

Mrs. Charles Mootz, Frankfort, has variegated live - forever. Whenever a branch appears that is pure green she pulls it off. In this way she has kept her variegated variety for a good many years.

Mrs. Reginald Blue, Frankfort, participated in the Ross County Fair. She exhibited tuberous rooted begonias.

We asked Margaret Coon who edits the rose annual for the American Rose Society where to purchase rose jars for the potpourri that she gave recipes for in the 1962 annual. There were several excellent recipes. She agreed that rose jars are increasingly hard to come by—since potporri making is a revived art.

Pauline Hanson suggested using apothecary jars which are easy to find and inexpensive.

Jim Gurney of the Scott firm looked a little wistfully at a planting of Spartan roses and said, "To think Spartan never won an All-America award." Spartan is one of his favorites.

Mrs. Emmitt Toole likes to dry corn. She has a special dryer for the process which does not work on an electric stove. She wants to buy an oil stove just for parching corn and cold packing vegetables.

We are getting the meadow clipped in readiness for the annual water pageant at our pond come Labor Day.

My husband was clipping close to the water's edge and the tractor mired down. Considerable excitement!

The water pageant is the Pocomantas story, so everybody will be wearing feathers. Dwight Steel provided the feathers.

The general public is invited to see the water pageant. A carry-in picnic supper will follow.

They learned, for instance, that last winter was the worst in history on roses. So if your roses pulled through thank your lucky stars.

Give your roses winter protection. And do not get in too much of a hurry to uncover them.

Many mulches are good. Use the one which is cheapest in your own locality. Ground corncobs, undoubtedly, would be fine in Pickaway County.

PLASTIC flakes of different colors kept the ground cooler and the space above the ground hotter than any other mulch. It was expensive, but pretty.

Bob West, mechanical research man, gave a demonstration on spraying roses. A bush may be completely covered with dust in five seconds time. That is with his particular hand spray equipment.

In the rose test gardens there were beds with no spray protection and no fertilization. There were other beds with no spraying program, but with complete fertilization. It was most dramatic to see how complete programs for spraying and fertilization with so little effort can pay off when it comes to growing roses.

Union County has a heavy clay soil. Exhibition rose gardens had a drainage system. The Test rose gardens did not.

According to Jim Gurney, who heads the rose division, a drainage system, at least in Union County, is a rose "must".

Old Fashioned Seed Saving Will Help Trim Budget

Seed saving from one year to the next used to be a very common practice. With the advent of so many new hybrids, this cozy custom has almost been lost.

Annual seeds may be quite an item in the gardener's budget. So why not try saving a few of your favorites.

We talked with several long-time gardeners about seed saving. Most of them say to take the center or first flower of the plant. Ordinarily this will be the largest flower.

Mark it with a string and allow it to almost dry on the plant. Pick it before the color has entirely changed to brown. Dry on a newspaper and store.

Society Lists Tips To Make Flowers Last

When you use mums or pompons for flower arrangements, break their stems instead of cutting them. Says the Society of American Florists. This helps absorb water and keeps blooms fresh.

Tritoma or red hot poker is being featured by many florists in September. To make them last longer, cut their stems with a sharp knife diagonally across. This facilitates water absorption.

Florists will be using flowers with autumn colors come September. Be looking for mums, tritoma, bittersweet, love apples and Japanese lanterns.

To prolong the life of flowers, SAF has a good rule. Place stems in a container of warm water and add a commercial flower preservative.

Higher speed limits on 100 up-state New York highways have reduced by more than half the number of motorists travelling at illegal speeds. On one road where the limit was raised from 35 to 45 miles an hour, the speed at which a majority drove actually declined.

MRS. Ed Helwage has heard that Climax marigolds come true to size and color if the seed is saved. So she's trying it this year. She also is saving some seed from centaurea, Americana which she says is a lovely flower.

Mrs. Shelby Teegardin makes a practice of saving seeds. She too marks the center blossom which she says is often the largest.

MRS. BOWER kept her seeds over the winter in an unheated milkhouse. They were unaffected by the cold.

Mrs. Bower does not make a practice of seed saving. She says the youngsters always come in the spring with seed packets they are selling for the school. So she buys her seeds from them for the most part.

Mrs. Bower uses columbine seed from her own plants very consistently. Then she plants in a cold frame and winters over.

Miss Lida Frey, whose garden is famous in this locality, says she does not bother to save seeds at all. She buys fresh ones each spring.

Mrs. Turney Pontius often takes the trouble to dry seeds and store them in paper sacks. She marks the center flower and uses seeds from it.

Mrs. Ed Wallace is going to try saving marigold seeds this year. Her marigolds have been fabulous. She is an old hand at seed

Public Works Bill Passed

$900 Million OK'd
To Pep Up Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)—By voice vote, the House passed Wednesday a key to President Kennedy's economic program, a $900 million emergency public works bill.

The members shouted approval of the bill after beating back 221 to 192 a Republican attempt to scuttle the bill by sending it back to committee. This was a surprisingly large margin and proved to be the critical vote.

Democrats made a major concession to keep wavering votes in line by eliminating a provision to set up a new federal agency to coordinate all public works. Republicans had called the administrator of that proposed agency a "pork barrel czar."

But the bill still had heavy opposition from Republicans and conservative Southern Democrats, who denounced it as an unneeded boondoggle.

The bill is aimed at giving the sluggish economy a quick shot in the arm and cutting down high unemployment by means of an immediate program of public works such as streets, sewers, public buildings and the like. Schools are excluded.

Most states and localities would have to provide matching funds of at least 50 per cent. But an amendment by Rep. William W. Scranton, R-Pa., calls for 75 per cent federal financing for critically distressed areas if they have reached legal limits of bonded debt.

The Senate already has passed a $1.5-billion public works bill. It provides $750 million for immediate use and another $750 million next year if unemployment remains at or above 5 per cent. A Senate-House conference will be held to adjust the differences.

The bill provides $900 million for immediate use in building needed public works that can be started quickly and finished in 12 months.

The men accepted payments from buyers, the government charged, and told them an allotment had been transferred when there really was no legal transfer.

Stephens, 46, was charged in six counts of offering $11,000 in bribes to other employees of the service, and was charged in 14 counts with receiving $20,905 in bribes.

Stephens was also charged with conspiring to defraud the government and making a false statement in a government report.

The grand jury charged Thornhill, 66, on nine counts of accepting bribes totaling $29,385 and on one count of conspiracy to defraud the government.

Kennedy said Newman, 35, was accused of conspiring to defraud the government. He was identified as not a government employee, but an individual who posed as a farmer willing to sell his allotments.

Top Cleveland Teamsters Get Fat Pay

CLEVELAND (AP)—Reports filed with the Department of Labor show that three top Teamsters Union officials here received more than $107,000 last year in salaries and expenses.

The reports filed Tuesday put the salary of William Presser, president of Teamsters Joint Council 41, at $32,690 and said he received $1,000 in expenses. N. Louis (Babe) Triscaro, vice president of the council and head of Local 436, received $43,280 in salaries and $2,493 in expenses and allowances. John J. Facts about Cuba Hard To Uncover

Facts about what goes on in Cuba are hard to come by these days.

An important factor is that the press in Cuba is fully controlled by the Fidel Castro regime. Every newsman working for a Cuban paper knows what he must and must not write. The result is a sterile press that usually throws little light on what goes on.

Even so, statements in Havana newspapers often provide indications of basic situations existing in such problems as housing and the food supply, and U.S. reporters can follow up these leads to some extent.

The number of such reporters is strictly limited. The Associated Press, for example, has only one non-Cuban reporter working in Cuba. Applications for visas to send in other reporters are turned down or ignored.

Only a token number of visiting correspondents are allowed each month—usually one or two. Most of these represent newspapers or radio and television networks.

The correspondents able to work in Cuba find most official doors closed to them. When they do have news to report, they often cannot get it out of Havana. Long distance calls are frequently cut off with the explanation, "I'm sorry, sir, the New York party hung up." Cables often disappear if they displease a supervisor checking all incoming and outgoing messages at the telegraph office. Wording is sometimes changed in cables that clear Havana.

An exception to these circumstances arises when the government wants to exploit some kind of news.

Despite the Cuban censorship, many of the trends of the Castro regime have been fully reported to the outside world. Some of the facts come out of diplomatic reports, which are not subject to scrutiny before transmission. The thousands of refugees leaving Cuba also provide much information. But often this is colored by wishful thinking, so it must be weighed carefully.

These School Kids Play Up on Roof

ARTESIA, N.M. (AP)—When the 460 atomic-age youngsters at Abo elementary school take a recess, they play on the roof.

Classes started Tuesday at the nation's only underground school.

The only danger in playing on the roof are the usual skinned knees, bumped foreheads and cut thumbs. The roof is at ground level.

Two basketball courts, hopscotch lanes and benches dot the 21-inch concrete slab playground.

The 18 air-conditioned classrooms, 13-feet-9-inches below the surface, will double as fallout shelter.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Few main-course foods are more uniformly abundant throughout the nation this week than turkeys.

The Department of Agriculture reports the big bird is featured at Northwestern meat counters, attractively priced in the Southeast and low-priced in the Southwest. In other areas it is also abundant.

One large chain is featuring turkey in its New York outlets at 39 cents a pound for 4-to-14 pound birds, and 33 cents a pound for heavier weights.

Accompanying turkey on the specials counters in the Northeast are smoked hams, fryers and broilers.

In the Southeast, ground beef is reported to be attractively priced, as are broilers and fryers.

Round, sirloin and Porterhouse steaks are featured in some Chicago markets.

Fresh pork, spareribs and bacon are slightly lower in some Western markets and some beef cuts are lower in the Los Angeles area.

In several areas red meats are slightly higher. Rib roasts and oven-ready roasts are quoted 8 cents a pound higher than last week at New York outlets of a national chain.

On the produce counter, green beans, cabbage, celery, corn, eggplant, lettuce, onions, peppers potatoes radishes, squash.

The most plentiful fruits are apples grapes, pears, plums and melons.

Health Insurance Percentages Given

NEW YORK (AP)—In 31 states more than two-thirds of the populations are protected by some form of voluntary health insurance, the Health Insurance Institute reported today.

New York State—with a coverage figure of 90.7 per cent based on more than 15.5 million insured residents—led all 50 states in coverage at the end of 1961, the report said.

New York was followed by Rhode Island, 87.8 per cent; Pennsylvania, 87.7; Ohio, 85.0; Connecticut, 84.0; and Illinois, 28.9, the Institute said.

Public Works Bill Passed

$900 Million OKd
To Pep Up Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)—By voice vote, the House passed Wednesday a key to President Kennedy's economic program, a $900 million emergency public works bill.

The members shouted approval of the bill after beating back 221 to 192 a Republican attempt to scuttle the bill by sending it back to committee. This was a surprisingly large margin and proved to be the critical vote.

Democrats made a major concession to keep wavering votes in line by eliminating a provision to set up a new federal agency to coordinate all public works. Republicans had called the administrator of that proposed agency a "pork barrel czar."

But the bill still had heavy opposition from Republicans and conservative Southern Democrats, who denounced it as an unneeded boondoggle.

The bill is aimed at giving the sluggish economy a quick shot in the arm and cutting down high unemployment by means of an immediate program of public works such as streets, sewers, public buildings and the like. Schools are excluded.

Most states and localities would have to provide matching funds of at least 50 per cent. But an amendment by Rep. William W. Scranton, R-Pa., calls for 75 per cent federal financing for critically distressed areas if they have reached legal limits of bonded debt.

The Senate already has passed a $1.5-billion public works bill. It provides $750 million for immediate use and another $750 million next year if unemployment remains at or above 5 per cent. A Senate-House conference will be held to adjust the differences.

The bill provides $900 million for immediate use in building needed public works that can be started quickly and finished in 12 months.

Trio Is Indicted In New Ag Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department has announced the indictment of three men, including two former Agriculture Department employees, on bribery and conspiracy charges involving fraudulent transfer of federal rice acreage allotments.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said the indictments were returned by a federal grand jury in Houston, Tex., as a result of an investigation started by the Agriculture Department and pursued by the FBI.

Kennedy said the separate indictments named these defendants: David C. Stephens, former office manager of the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Services—ASCS—in Brazoria County, Tex.

Tacitus C. Thornhill, former ASCS office manager in Waller County, Tex.

Laurence G. Newman of Lake Jackson, Tex.

Kennedy said Stephens was fired by the Agriculture Department June 12 and Thornhill July 19.

The government accused the defendants of representing to rice growers that rice acreage allotments were available for transfer and that a transfer would be made when one of the three received certain sums of money.

The men accepted payments from buyers, the government charged, and told them an allotment had been transferred when there really was no legal transfer.

Stephens, 46, was charged in six counts of offering $11,000 in bribes to—other employees of the service, and was charged in 14 counts with receiving $20,905 in bribes.

Stephens was also charged with conspiring to defraud the government and making a false statement in a government report.

The grand jury charged Thornhill, 66, on nine counts of accepting bribes totaling $29,385 and on one count of conspiracy to defraud the government.

Kennedy said Newman, 35, was accused of conspiring to defraud the government. He was identified as not a government employee, but an individual who posed as a farmer willing to sell his allotments.

He said he could not go into further details at this time.

"We have gotten a loan from the Teamsters but I have no comment as to the amount," Brown said today.

He said he could not go into further details at this time.

Viking Triumphs In Hambletonian

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—Sanders (The Preacher) Russell, esteemed by his trainer-driver colleagues, has plucked the second, and shiniest, jewel in harness racing's Triple Crown by scoring an extremely popular triumph in the $116,612 Hambletonian with A. C.'s Viking.

The slender, silver haired Alabaman, dean of the field at the age of 62, guided the powerfully big bay son of Hoot Mon to a successive heat victory Wednesday.

Yanks Crowned 2nd Round TV LL Champions

Reds, Yanks Will Meet in Best of Three Series Tilts

The Yankees won the second round championship of the Teays Valley little league with a 5-0 mark by belting the Cardinals, 16-2, in the season's final game.

The Redlegs moved into a second place tie with the Dodgers and the Giants with a 6-5 victory over the Dodgers, and the Giants won 13-6 over the winless Indians. The Reds, Dodgers and Giants all finished with identical 3-2 second round marks.

Timely hitting and superb pitching were the standout features in the Yankee - Cardinal game. Ron Lambert scattered six Cardinal hits and belted two home runs. Lambert's homers were his eighth and ninth of the season. Greg Groves, Lee Curry and Bob Cook each chipped in with a pair of hits.

Redleg hurler Chet Gloyd came to the aid of starter Rex Gregg in the fifth inning after Bill Welsh's leadoff homer pulled the Dodgers to within one run of the Redlegs. Gloyd promptly retired the side in order in the fifth and six innings. He struckout all six men to face him.

GREGG'S bases loaded single in the fourth inning with the Reds holding a narrow 3-2 lead, proved to be the big blow of the game. It pushed the Reds into a 5-2 lead and set the stage for Gloyd's game clinching homer in the fifth. Welsh paced the Dodger attack with a homer and a double. Don Stir also blasted a homer for the Dodgers. Gene Neff, the league's leading hitter had four singles and a triple to pace the Giant's hitting attack. Wayne Brown and Gary Rife each rapped out solo home runs as the Indians closed out the second round with an 0-5 record. Dick Barr was the winning pitcher, while Wayne Brown was charged with the loss.

The Yankees, second round champs, and the Redlegs, first round winners, will oppose each other in a best of three series to determine the Teays Valley little league championship.

The Reds belted the Yanks in the first round 8-1, behind the two-hit pitching of Chet Gloyd and the Yankees edged the Reds 2-1 in the second round, behind the pitching of Ron Lambert. Lambert since taking over the pitching chores for the Yankees has been unbeaten in four starts and will tote a 4-0 record into the championship fray, while the Redlegs Chet Gloyd will carry an impressive 7-2 mark into the battle.

The Yankees will feature an array of hitters in Dale and Ron Lambert, Bob Cook, Brent Roof, Greg Groves and Lee Curry, all of whom are hitting above the .300 mark. The Reds will also be supplied with plenty of power in Chet Gloyd, Van and Rex Gregg, Bill Hall, Dan Hicks and Gary Heath, all of whom are hitting over .300.

oval at the DuQuoin State Fairgrounds were 1:59 3-5 and 2:00 flat.

In each heat, Viking came from behind in an overpowering stretch charge. He won the first by one and three-quarter lengths over Safe Mission and Joe O'Brien, and squeezed out the second over Isaac and John Simpson.

Record Hambletonian heats of 1:58 2-5 and 1:59 were established last year by Marian Dean.

The Preacher and Viking will concentrate now on winning the third leg of the Triple Crown—the Kentucky Futurity at Lexington, Oct. 5, worth an estimated $55,000.

The first jewel—the $105,423 Yonkers Futurity—was captured by them July 19.

The Hambletonian triumph was worth $62,854 to Viking's owners, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Petersen of West Hartford, Conn.

It was Viking's 11th victory in 12 starts this season, and his ninth straight. It boosted his total earnings to $198,173.

Based on heat finishes, the next three money winners behind A.C.'s Viking were:

Second: Isaac, driven by John Simpson, 5-2 heats, $28,570; third: Safe Mission, Joe O'Brien, 2-12, $17,142; fourth: Impish, Frank Ervin 3-5, $5,714.

The rest of the field finished this way:

Lord Gordon 15-3, Spry Rodney 4-4, Nathaniel 6-10, Rooney Hanover 10-6, Sprite Rodney 7-8, Varlo Hanover 13-4, woru Seem 8-3, Happy Newprt 9-15, Delight Hanover 11-11, O You Kid 12-13, Double T. 14-14.

A record crowd of 37,718 poured into the fairgrounds for Hambletonian day. The stands were capacity-packed with about 25,000, while the others milled around outside in a carnival-like aura of the midway. Parimutuel betting is prohibited by state law.

Harness racing history is with in the grasp of the Preacher and Viking. Only once has the same horse—Scott Frost—and the same driver—Joe O'Brien—grabbed the Triple Crown. They did it in 1955.

Russell had to put aside crutches to get into the sulky. He has been hobbled with an injured right ankle since a racing mishap in late July. He wore a tennis shoe and a light cast and rested the foot on padding to his stirrup.

"Forgot it was even hurt," he chuckled. "I had strategy planned but only to get Viking into position, then I drove him by ear. "It was only the second and third time since I started driving in 1915 that I had miles off two minutes or better. This is the best horse I ever had, and he is completely sound and well behaved. He will do better with time, and certainly is capable of more effort that he showed. We certainly will be shooting for the Triple Crown."

Archbold Pacer Wins Fair Feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Coffee Break, owned by C & M Stables of Archbold Ohio, won the featured $23,500 Director of Agriculture Pace for 3-year-olds at the Ohio State Fair Wednesday after setting a record for the event in a qualifying heat.

The bay colt, a prime Little Brown Jug candidate, ran the second round in 2:01. The old record, 2:02 4-5, was held jointly by Major Goose in 1960 and Honest Time in 1961.

Coffee Break won the final in 2:01 3-5, ahead of Play Bill and third-place Federalist. Federalist had won the first heat in 2:02. Merrie Clem set a track record for trotters by winning the eighth race in 2:03 1-5 to take the $5,400 Maturity Trot.

Shortstop Dick Groat of the Pittsburgh Pirates played American Legion baseball.

REACTION SLED — Here is the defensive reaction blocking sled purchased for the CHS football team by the Circleville Booster Club. The sled, highly praised by the Tiger coaching staff, teaches linemen to react to various moves by opposing linemen. Demonstrating here is Coach John Adler (right) and lineman Steve Thomerson. The machine will be demonstrated during tomorrow night's Band and Football Preview at the CHS gridiron.

Bandsmen, Footballers Set For Preview Performances

Musical entertainment and fundamentals of football are on tap during tomorrow night's annual Band and Gridiron Preview at the Circleville High School field.

The yearly event, sponsored by the Circleville Band Mothers, will start at 8 p. m. Highlights will include appearances by the CHS Band and football teams, a presentation by the Davis Demons Drum Corps, an exhibition by the Carverettes Drill Team of Chillicothe and a rousing comedy routine by several brave Band Mothers.

The Preview is conducted here each year by the Band Mothers as part of their continual efforts to purchase and maintain uniforms for the CHS Band. The Band was outfitted in new uniforms last year, largely through proceeds gathered at Previews conducted the past few years.

Committees already have been named for Friday's big event by Mrs. Ned Harden, Band Mothers president. Prizes will be awarded to band members selling the most preview tickets.

THE CARVERETTES, a precision drill team, will be under the direction of Bob Walker. The unit has appeared at the Circleville Pumpkin Show and is now training for an appearance on the Ted Mack Amateur Hour in New York City.

Sharing a portion of the evening's spotlight will be the 1962-63 edition of Truman Eberly's Marching Band. Members this year are:

Young Russian Wins in Tennis

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Seventeen-year-old Alexander Metreveli of the Soviet Union, Wednesday won his qualifying match and earned a spot in the National Tennis Championships. The tournament proper gets under way Friday.

Metreveli, shaky at the start, downed Bronson Van Wyck of Montclair, N.J., 3-6, 7-5, 6-3, 6-2 in one of the two qualifying rounds played at the rain-drenched West Side Tennis Club. David Asz of Israel turned back Ed Turville Jr. of St. Petersburg, Fla., in the other, 6-4, 3-6, 8-6, 1-6, 6-4.

Metreveli thus became the first Soviet player ever to win a tennis match in the United States.

The Cleveland Browns have beaten the Detroit Lions only once in eight tries in National Football League competition.

Asa Elsea Set For Practice at Bowling Green

Asa Elsea, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Elsea, Route 3, placekicker for the Bowling Green Falcons, is one of 62 griders invited to report for fall practice at Bowling Green today.

Elsea has kicked for 43 points after touchdowns in the past two years. He will be extending his own record every time he boots an extra point this year.

Although Elsea's two letters have been earned by his kicking, he may see plenty of offensive action at center, according to Falcon coach Doyt Perry.

Mid American conference champions in two of the past three years and runner-up the other season, Bowling Green's football fortunes will rest on the shoulders of a practically all-senior starting lineup, backed by many inexperienced reserves and sophomores.

Coach Perry appraises his team as lighter than last year, but feels that the over-all team speed is better.

The Falcons have 22 returning lettermen this year. Only two starters in the line return, but there are 14 letter-winners bucking for starting positions.

Beginning activity for the griders will be equipment issuing, physical exams, publicity pictures and a general organization meeting Friday. Two-day practices start Saturday.

The New York Rangers have moved their National Hockey League training camp from Guelph, Ont., to Vancouver, B. C., this fall.

Ebenhack Pacer Favored at Scioto

Abbe Vo, owned and driven by Emmitt Ebenhack, Route 2, is an early pre-race favorite on the morning line for tonight's feature race at Scioto Downs.

Abbe Vo, stallion son of Dominion Grattan, will go in the seventh race, a well handicapped C-2 pace. It will be Ladies Night at Scioto.

After winning a stakes race over an off track at Weillston, Abbe Vo has been improving steadily with a pair of second place finishes in 2:06. Ebenhack has the good pacer sharp after his last race in which he finished a head behind Sam Calil's Carsilio.

Viking Triumphs
In Hambletonian

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—Sanders (The Preacher) Russell, esteemed by his trainer-driver colleagues, has plucked the second, and shiniest, jewel in harness racing's Triple Crown by scoring an extremely popular triumph in the $116,612 Hambletonian with A. C.'s Viking.

The slender, silver haired Alabaman, dean of the field at the age of 62, guided the powerfully big bay son of Hoot Mon to a successive heat victory Wednesday.

Reds, Yanks Will Meet in Best of Three Series Tilts

The Yankees won the second round championship of the Teays Valley little league with a 5-0 mark by belting the Cardinals, 8-2, in the season's final game.

The Redlegs moved into a second place tie with the Dodgers and the Giants with a 6-5 victory over the Dodgers and the Giants won 13-6 over the winless Indians. The Reds, Dodgers and Giants all finished with identical 3-2 second round marks.

Timely hitting and superb pitching were the standout features in the Yankee-Cardinal game. Ron Lambert scattered six Cardinal hits and belted two home runs. Lambert's homers were his eighth and ninth of the season. Greg Groves, Lee Curry and Bob Cook each chipped in with a pair of hits.

Redleg hurler Chet Gloyd came to the aid of starter Rex Gregg in the fifth inning after Bill Welsh's leadoff homer pulled the Dodgers to within one run of the Redlegs. Gloyd promptly retired the side in order in the fifth and six innings. He struck out all six men to face him.

GREGG'S bases loaded single in the fourth inning with the Reds holding a narrow 3-2 lead, proved to be the big blow of the game. It pushed the Reds into a 5-2 lead and set the stage for Gloyd's game clinching homer in the fifth. Welsh paced the Dodger attack with a homer and a double. Don Sir also blasted a homer for the Dodgers.

Gene Neff, the league's leading hitter had four singles and a triple to pace the Giant's hitting attack. Wayne Brown and Gary Rife each rapped out solo home runs as the Indians closed out the second round with an 0-5 record. Dick Barr was the winning pitcher, while Wayne Brown was charged with the loss.

The Yankees, second round champs, and the Redlegs, first round winners, will oppose each other in a best of three series to determine the Teays Valley little league championship.

The Reds belted the Yanks in the first round 8-1, behind the two-hit pitching of Chet Gloyd and the Yankees edged the Reds 2-1 in the second round, behind the pitching of Ron Lambert. Lambert since taking over the pitching chores for the Yankees has been unbeaten in four starts and will tote a 4-0 record into the championship fray, while the Redlegs Chet Gloyd will carry an impressive 7-2 mark into the battle.

The Yankees will feature an array of hitters in Dale and Ron Lambert, Bob Cook, Brent Roof, Greg Groves and Lee Curry, all of whom are hitting above the .300 mark. The Reds will also be supplied with plenty of power in Chet Gloyd, Van and Rex Gregg, Bill Hall, Dan Hicks and Gary Heath, all of whom are hitting over .300.

oval at the DuQuoin State Fairgrounds were 1:59 3-5 and 2:00 flat.

In each heat, Viking came from behind in an overpowering stretch charge. He won the first by one and three-quarter lengths over Safe Mission and Joe O'Brien, and squeezed out the second over Isaac and John Simpson.

Record Hambletonian heats of 1:58 2-5 and 1:59 were established last year by Arabian Dean.

The Preacher and Viking will concentrate now on winning the third leg of the Triple Crown—the Kentucky Futurity at Lexington, Oct. 5, worth an estimated $55,000.

The first jewel—the $105,423 Yonkers Futurity—was captured by them July 19.

The Hambletonian triumph was worth $62,854 to Viking's owners, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Petersen of West Hartford, Conn.

It was Viking's 11th victory in 12 starts this season, and his ninth straight, it boosted his total earnings to $198,173.

Based on heat finishes, the next three money winners behind A.C.'s Viking were:

Second: Isaac, driven by John Simpson, 5-2 heats, $28,570; third: Safe Mission, Joe O'Brien, 2-12, $17,142; fourth: Impish, Frank Ervin 3-5, $5,714.

The rest of the field finished this way:

Lord Gordon 15-3, Spry Rodney 4-4, Nathaniel 6-10, Rooney Hanover 10-6, Sprite Rodney 7-8, Varlo Hanover 13-4, Worn Seen 8-9, Happy Newprt 9-15, Delight Hanover 11-11, O You Kid 12-13, Double T, 14-14.

A record crowd of 37,718 poured into the fairgrounds for Hambletonian day. The stands were capacity-packed with about 25,000, while the others milled around outside in a carnival-like aura of the midway. Parimutuel betting is prohibited by state law.

Harness racing history is with in the grasp of the Preacher and Viking. Only once has the same horse—Scott Frost—and the same driver—Joe O'Brien—grabbed the Triple Crown. They did it in 1955.

Russell had to put aside crutches to get into the sulky. He has been hobbled with an injured right ankle since a racing mishap in late July. He wore a tennis shoe and a light cast and rested the foot on padding to his stirrup.

"Forgot it was even hurt," he chuckled, "I had strategy planned but only to get Viking into position, then I drove him by ear. "It was only the second and third time since I started driving in 1915 that I had miles of two minutes or better. This is the best horse I ever had, and he is completely sound and well behaved. He will do better with time, and certainly is capable of more effort than he showed. We certainly will be shooting for the Triple Crown."

Archbold Pacer
Wins Fair Feature

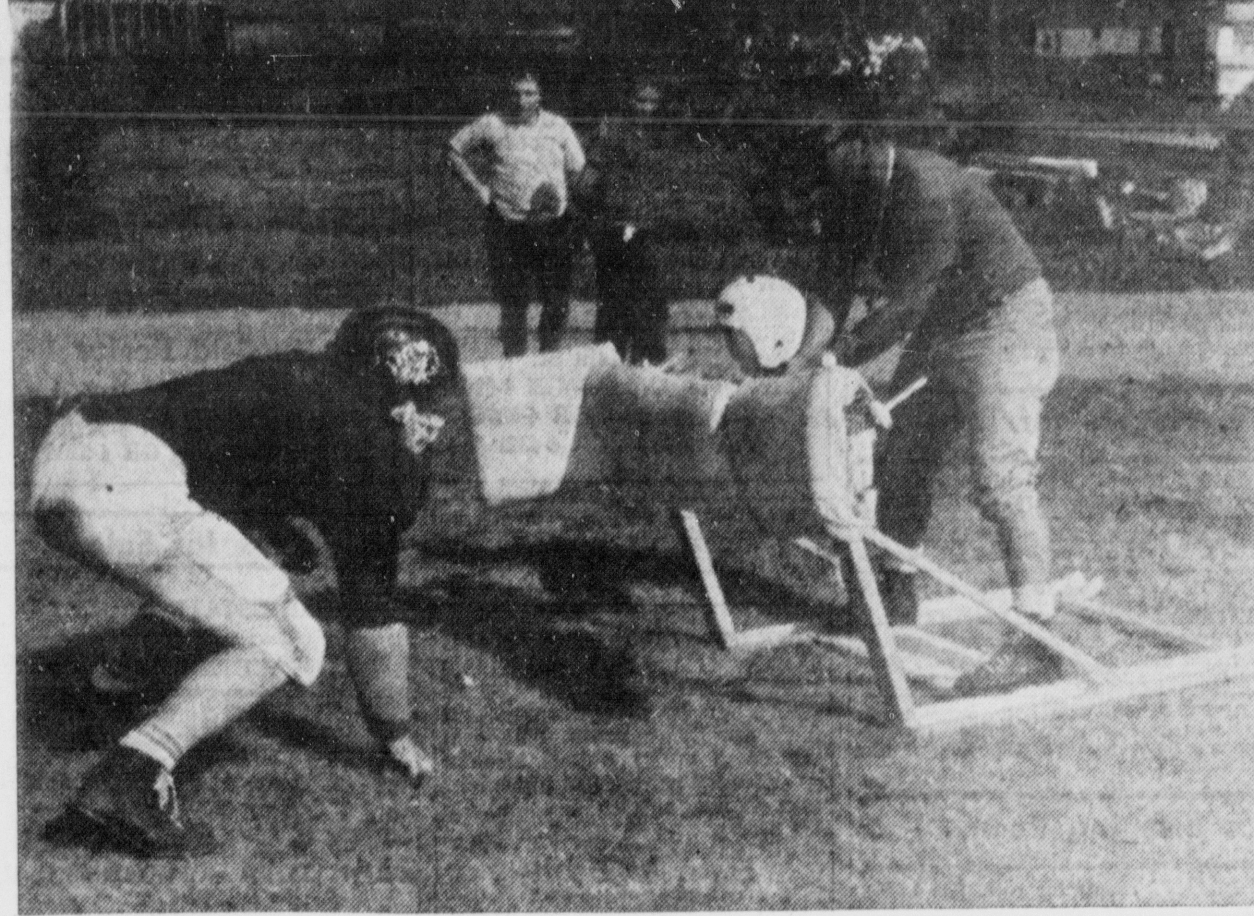

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Coffee Break, owned by C & M Stables of Archbold Ohio, won the featured $23,500 Director of Agriculture Pace for 3-year-olds at the Ohio State Fair Wednesday after setting a record for the event in a qualifying heat.

The bay colt, a prime Little Brown Jug candidate, ran the second heat in 2:01. The old record, 2:02 4-5, was held jointly by Major Goose in 1960 and Honest Time in 1961.

Coffee Break won the final in 2:01 3-5, ahead of Play Bill and third-place Federalist. Federalist had won the first heat in 2:02.

Merrie Clem set a track record for trotters by winning the eighth race in 2:03 1-5 to take the $5,400 Maturity Trot.

Shortstop Dick Groat of the Pittsburgh Pirates played American Legion baseball.

REACTION SLED — Here is the defensive reaction blocking sled purchased for the CHS football team by the Circleville Booster Club. The sled, highly praised by the Tiger coaching staff, teaches linemen to react to various moves by opposing linemen. Demonstrating here is Coach John Adler (right) and lineman Steve Thomerson. The machine will be demonstrated during tomorrow night's Band and Football Preview at the CHS gridiron.

Bandsmen, Footballers Set
For Preview Performances

Musical entertainment and fundaments of football are on tap during tomorrow night's annual Band and Gridiron Preview at the Circleville High School field.

The yearly event, sponsored by the Circleville Band Mothers, will start at 8 p. m. Highlights will include appearances by the CHS Band and football teams, a presentation by the Davis Demons Drum Corps, an exhibition by the Carverettes Drill Team of Chillicothe and a rousing comedy routine by several brave Band Mothers.

The Preview is conducted here each year by the Band Mothers as part of their continual efforts to purchase and maintain uniforms for the CHS Band. The Band was outfitted in new uniforms last year, largely through proceeds gathered at Previews conducted the past few years.

Committees already have been named for Friday's big event by Mrs. Ned Harden, Band Mothers president. Prizes will be awarded to band members selling the most preview tickets.

THE CARVERETTES, a precision drill team, will be under the direction of Bob Walker. The unit has appeared at the Circleville Pumpkin Show and is now training for an appearance on the Ted Mack Amateur Hour in New York City.

Sharing a portion of the evening's spotlight will be the 1962-63 edition of Truman Eberly's Marching Band. Members this year are:

Young Russian
Wins in Tennis

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Seventeen-year-old Alexander Metreveli of the Soviet Union, Wednesday won his qualifying match and earned a spot in the National Tennis Championships. The tournament proper gets under way Friday.

Metreveli, shaky at the start, downed Bronson Van Wyck of Montclair, N.J., 3-6, 7-5, 6-3, 6-2 in one of the two qualifying rounds played at the rain-drenched West Side Tennis Club. David Asz of Israel turned back Ed Turville Jr., of St. Petersburg, Fla., in the other, 6-4, 3-6, 8-6, 1-6, 6-4.

Metreveli thus became the first Soviet player ever to win a tennis match in the United States.

The Cleveland Browns have beaten the Detroit Lions only once in eight tries in National Football League competition.

Asa Elsea Set
For Practice at Bowling Green

Asa Elsea, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Elsea, Route 3, place-kicker for the Bowling Green Falcons, is one of 62 gridders invited to report for fall practice at Bowling Green today.

Elsea has kicked for 43 points after touchdowns in the past two years. He will be extending his own record every time he boots an extra point this year.

Although Elsea's two letters have been earned by his kicking, he may see plenty of offensive action at center, according to Falcon coach Doyt Perry.

Mid American conference champions in two of the past three years and runner-up the other season, Bowling Green's football fortunes will rest on the shoulders of a practically all-senior starting lineup, backed by many inexperienced reserves and sophomores.

Coach Perry appraises his team as lighter than last year, but feels that the over-all team speed is better.

The Falcons have 22 returning lettermen this year. Only two starters in the line return, but there are 14 letter-winners bucking for starting positions.

Beginning activity for the grid-ders will be equipment issuing, physical exams, publicity pictures and a general organization meeting Friday. Two-day practices start Saturday.

The New York Rangers have moved their National Hockey League training camp from Guelph, Ont., to Vancouver, B. C., this fall.

Grid Helmet Study Starts

Air Force, Dayton Firm Seeking Safety

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The Air Force and a manufacturer of athletic equipment are going to collaborate in making what they hope will be safer football helmets.

Donald Huxley, an Air Force clothing expert at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, will design a hollow, suspension-type, plastic helmet.

The Ridde Athletic Equipment Co. here will manufacture the rubber-padded, close-fitting headgear. The models are expected to be ready for testing next fall.

The move for safer helmets began in Dayton area last week after a 14-year-old Xenia boy, James T. Pfeifferberger, was killed practicing football.

The committee seeking the improved equipment includes physicians and Dayton area football coaches.

Investigators working on the Xenia boy's death said the face guard attached to the youth's helmet evidently was pushed upward and the hard edge of the back of the headgear pressed on the boy's neck, injuring the brain. Last week Huxley told the members he has spent years working with helmets and the Air Force has spent millions of dollars.

He said one of the definite weaknesses of today's football helmets is the distribution of the force of impact. He said the Air Force helmet distributes the impact over the entire head while football helmets do not.

Hollenback Top Gainer for Teays Valley

The Teays Valley football team played host to a tough Columbus St. Charles football squad last night in a scrimmage practice session.

St. Charles scored six times, twice on passes and four times on the ground and Teays Valley crossed paydirt once.

Dan Hollenback was the leading ball carrier for Teays Valley, with 50 yards in 15 carries for a 3.33 average. John Hay racked up 43 yards in four carries for a 10.1 average and David Roese completed three of five passes for 46 yards. Rush scored the only touchdown for Teays Valley on a two yard off tackle slant.

Head Coach, Marion Waits, said the team still needs work on offensive blocking. He said his backs are beginning to hit a little sharper into the offensive holes.

He noted that the Freshmen are working into shape. They held the St. Charles Sophomores scoreless for most of the scrimmage, before losing, 6-0.

HEALTH EXAMS HELP THEM PASS SCHOOL EXAMS

Take your youngsters to the "2 D's"—your doctor and dentist—before sending them back to the "3 R's."

When your children pass pre-school "health exams" they find it easier to pass their school exams, because good health goes hand-in-hand with steady attendance and good study habits.

Make appointments with your doctor and dentist today—they can help your children avoid going through "School Daze."
